NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to The Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

A. C. Wolfe was the subject represented in last week's "Guess Who's Here" contest. The winner was Miss Frances Bailey, 2105 Cass street.

Glancing at his name, the noblest Roman of them all, or any old Roman, would derive the idea that feet were an ancestral trait, or achievement, or accident, or whatever feet were in the old days when his family, like all families, was adopting a family name preparatory to furnishing occupation to genealogical publishing houses carrying city directories as a side line. On the other hand, the American who never has been afflicted with Latin would gather from our hero's name no nobler conclusion that could be expressed in the word, "Bohemian!" or, giving credit to the "sky," "Russian!" Oh, fudge! Just at this moment the copy reader kicks in with information our hero spells it "Pades," instead of "Pedes," so please forget what has been said and don't tack the sky line on just to see what it all amounts to. We can't change it now or start over, for this junk is going to press in a minute. He used to infest the city hall, where an easy-going official generously permitted him to do the work. He's an expert on wrappers—Sumatra, not calico. He declines to permit a certain two-handed attorney (he who vanquished Holmsmann) to engage in shadow boxing without interposing his own substance between the boxer and the shadow. By the way, any lady getting close enough to guess his name is pretty apt to surround him with predatory intent, for this fellow is some kid.

Fourteen years ago, John Mohre came to La Crosse in the interests of the Singer Sewing Machine company and soon became one of the well known citizens of La Crosse. Previous to his coming to La Crosse, he had held a similar position at Wausau. For eight years, Mr. Mohre continued in his capacity with the Singer company.

Six years ago his political ambitions awakened and he resigned to accept the position of undersheriff. Two years later he became a candidate for the position of sheriff but was defeated. Shortly after this he was offered the agency of the Singer machine at Ishpeming, Mich., which offered excellent prospects and which he accepted.

During the ten years Mr. Mohre spent in La Crosse he became famous as a sharpshooter, being one of the most prominent members and best shots of the La Crosse Sharpshooters' club. He was also a prominent member of the Redmen.

"I've been a good deal of a bog-trotter myself," observed Judge James Farrell, as we partook of light refreshments in a popular cafe. "One man I've been a globe-trotter, ye git me," corrected Jim, although Pete Newburg, his vis-a-vis, never batted an eye.

"I outfitted the Honorable Jim the first time he crossed the water," said Pete. "Jim has been over and back and over and back until he can distinguish between a Newfoundland and London fog with the naked nose."

"The judge came in from the farm and put the matter of a suitable wardrobe straight up to me," continued Pete. "Oh, don't say I'll be presented at court, an' I don't say I won't," says Hon. Jim, with the air of a man who knew that kings and potentates awaited his pleasure. In those days Jim knew more about potatoes than potentates, but he had a leaning toward potatoes; nowadays he knows all about both, and prefers the potatoes.

"Well, we dined Jim up in gray traveling sack and stuffed a Prince Albert into his bag. But Jim wouldn't have it that way. He wore the dress coat in the train, and stopped in Chicago long enough to can the derby I sold him and buy a silk tie. Let me whisper to you, confidentially, that the Hon. Judge Farrell was about the fanciest hall-tree who ever served corned beef and cabbage over the rail of a transatlantic liner."

Judge Farrell grinned good-naturedly at Mr. Newburg. "I WAS a bit raw thin days," he observed, "but I was sophisticated entirely compared with you, my Dutch cousin I met in France. 'So-o, you iss from America?' sezee. 'You moost know meine tochter (daughters). Gretchen iss by Kalamazoo, Katrina iss by St. Augustine and Hedwig—sure you know die schoene Hedwig—she iss by Sacramento.'"

But, as Mr. Newburg thereupon pertinently remarked, all this ancient history hasn't anything to do with the free bridge.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT PROVES FAILURE

Cut Veins in Wrist, but Is Too Weak to Sever Windpipe; May Recover

George Zein, 328 North Fourth street, is lying at the La Crosse hospital in a critical condition today as a result of an attempt to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor, this morning. His cries attracted Frank H. Grebner, a cigar maker who notified his parents and attempted to staunch the flow of blood. Dr. J. A. Rowles was summoned and Zein was removed to the La Crosse hospital. His condition this afternoon favors his recovery.

Zein who is a young man is said to have told his mother he was going to kill himself and then to have dashed into the alley and severed the veins in both his wrists. He then attempted to cut his throat and succeeded in cutting a gash several inches in length. The cutting of the cords in his wrist however had weakened him to such an extent that he was unable to sever the windpipe, the razor barely reaching it.

He then tottered into the rear door of the Grebner cigar factory, where his moans attracted the attention of the workmen. He was carried inside and his mother telephoned for a physician. He was removed to the La Crosse hospital in an unconscious state. The cause of the attempted suicide is unknown but it is rumored that family troubles were instrumental in causing the attempt.

CITY TO IMPROVE LA CRESCENT ROAD

Council Appropriates $5,000 and Will Vote More if Necessary; One Alderman Objects

SEWER SYSTEM IS CHANGED

Original Plans Are Adopted; Will Not "Dock" Police; to Provide Outlet for Rubber Mills

A resolution to appropriate $5,000 for the improvement of the La Crescent road was carried by a vote of twenty to one at the meeting of the common council last night, with the understanding that if this proved insufficient, further appropriations would be made as soon as plans, specifications and estimates have been made by the board of public works. The council as a whole favored the improvement but differed as to amounts of appropriations and means of raising funds to carry on the work.

Resolutions to reconsider and adopt the original plans and specifications of the proposed sewer system and to continue the present system of police pay were adopted, as was a resolution to take immediate steps for the improvement of Caledonia, Hagar and St. Andrew streets so as to furnish an outlet for the La Crosse Rubber Mills. The meeting, dragged out by prolonged discussion, was brought to a close without serious opposition on any project.

La Crescent Road Improvement

The original resolution on the improvement of the La Crescent road was introduced provided for an appropriation of $2,000 for the improvement of that part of the road lying between the west end of the La Crosse wagon bridge and West channel. Alderman Joseph Barti declared that the appropriation should be enlarged and Alderman Adam Kroner seconded the motion. As an amendment Alderman P. W. Mahoney offered a substitute by which the board of public works would be instructed to advertise for bids for crushed rock and stone to carry on the work and that necessary funds be transferred from any available fund. Alderman F. J. Roth spoke in favor of the amendment and Alderman William Torrance made a second.

A clause of the original resolution providing that all bridge toll collected after January 1, 1913, be converted to the improvement and upkeep of the road was later withdrawn and a new resolution drafted by which the $5,000 appropriation from the surplus of the sinking fund was made and the board of public works instructed to provide plans and specifications which will be submitted at a special meeting to be held next week. The resolution which was adopted included the entire road and eliminated the clause restricting the improvement to the east side of West Channel. Alderman Torrance said that there are several gravel pits in that vicinity from which material will be easily available and that the cost of improvement had ought to be greatly reduced by this means.

Change Sewer System

The committee on sewers recommended that the action taken at a recent meeting of the city council, by which a large portion of the proposed sewer system on the North side was eliminated, at request of property owners with frontage on the several of the streets in question, be reconsidered. This was adopted. Alderman Mahoney introduced a resolution to eliminate sewers on Hagar, Avon and Berlin streets, the sewers which had formerly been eliminated. This was killed by a vote of four to seventeen.

Alderman Roellig asserted that as the people on Denton street had been forced to put in sewers although they objected, it would be unfair to the tax payers and citizens at large to eliminate any of the North side system. A resolution approving of the original plans and specifications of the proposed North side system was adopted by a vote of sixteen to five and this was followed by the adoption of a resolution for the installation of sewers on Farnam and Mormon Coulee road.

Would "Dock" Police

A near-flight was precipitated following the report of the committee on police and finance, opposing the conversion of police salary, during lost time, to the pension fund. Aldermen Schultz and Torrance spoke in favor of deducting from the salaries of the police for all time lost for sickness or any other cause and converting this to the police pension

MORE HONORS TO AMERICAN TEAM

United States Athletes Take Two Places in 400 Meter Race and First in 3,000 Meter

ARE SORE AT THE OFFICIALS

Dissatisfaction Expressed by Team Over Treatment of Young in Heat of 400 Meter Run

STOCKHOLM, July 13.—Confident that they can beat all other men in the Marathon, the great event of the present Olympic meeting which will be run tomorrow, the American entrants and managers admitted today they could probably not hold Kolehmainen, the wonderful Finnish distance runner. Any accident to this great athlete, the Americans agreed, would probably be followed by an American triumph in the classic. However, there is nothing but admiration felt for him in the American camp, and if he is first home, he will be cheered by no one more warmly than the representatives of the Stars and Stripes. Johnny Hayes winner of the London Marathon and in charge today of the American who will start in tomorrow's heart-breaking task, said this afternoon that he was hopeful of the outcome. His men have done nothing but rest and take limbering up walks since Wednesday and are in the pink of condition. But Hayes admitted that he expected the great Finn would be the winner of the event.

The big feature of today's card, the classic 400 meter dash, was a real race from the pistol crack to tape and result in a magnificent victory for the American, Reidpoth of Syracuse, but he had to hang up a new record to defeat Hans Braun, the best sprinter on the continent.

There was interest today in the Decathlon, the all-around event which started with a 100 meter dash. It includes this run, a running broad jump, putting the weight best hand, a running high jump, a 400 meter flat race, a 110 meter hurdle race, throwing the discus, a pole vault, throwing the javelin and a 1,500 meter flat race. The 100 meter sprint was contested by 23 athletes. Of the Americans James Thorpe of Carlisle, Eugene L. Mercer, University of Pennsylvania and Harry S. Babcock of Columbia, won their heats; James J. Donoghue of Los Angeles, got a second, and George W. Philbrook, Notre Dame, landed a third. L. F. Lukeman of Canada, won his heat.

Sore at Officials

Interest in the finals of the 400 meter race and the team race at 3,000 meters, the finals of which were to be run today, were overshadowed by the outlook of the Marathon tomorrow and the action of the judges in disqualifying Donnell B. Young, in his heat in the 400 meters yesterday. While the American officials insist that there was no cause of the action of the judges, and that Hans Braun, who benefitted, was really to blame, no formal protest will be filed. The American managers believed they had enough men in the finals to smother Braun anyhow, and did not want to add to the feeling already against the team in the German and British camps.

When the games were resumed today the Americans were leading with a total in the track and field events of 61 points as compared with 51 for all of the other teams combined. It was generally accepted that the American total would be increased, although there was a feeling that the British team would have to be reckoned in with the run-off of the 3,000 meter team races. John Paul Jones, the great Cornell runner, who was expected to prove a tower of strength to the Yankees, is out of the game. The doctors told him yesterday that if he did not let up for a brief period he will break down, and he was reluctantly forced to follow their advice.

Marathon Problem

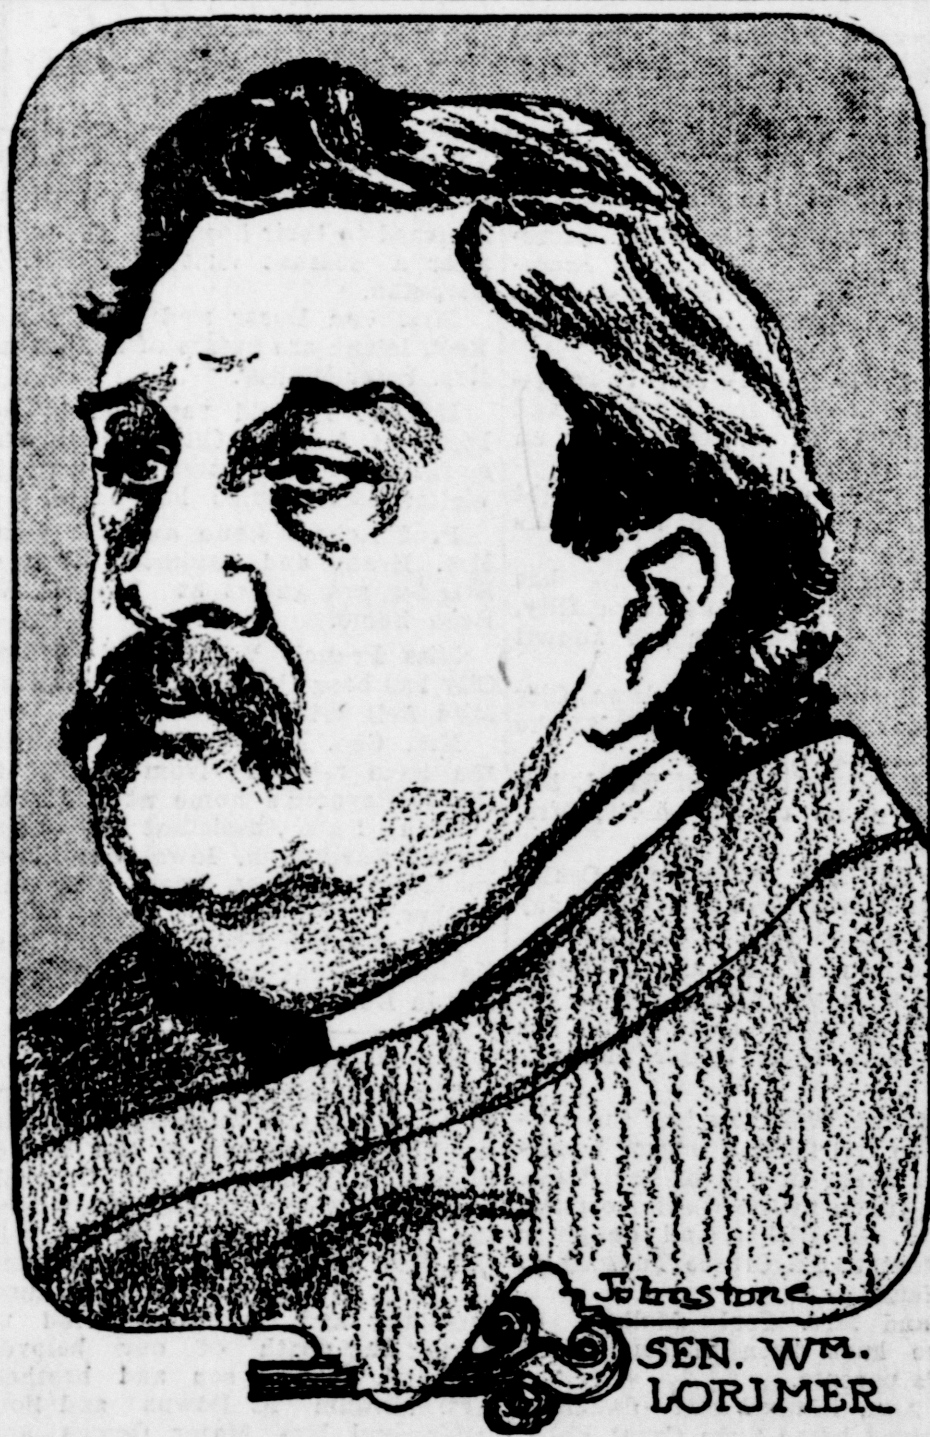

So far as the Marathon is concerned their only hope is the grit of the American athletes. They realize that their best men have failed to show anything like the form of some of the other entrants and have no hesitancy in declaring that if an American runner should win, he will do so by sheer grit alone.

The first event was the preliminaries in the standing high jump in which Platt and Ben Adams of the New York Athletic club; Leo Goring, Mohawk A. C.; R. L. Byrd, Adrian college; Tyler of England and Tschilitiras of Greece, qualified for

La Crosse Man Expected to Carry Primary for Nomination for Attorney General

PROGRESSIVES ARE IN POWER

Final Outcome of Convention Triumph for Men Who Fought the Tory Invasion

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—The democratic state convention closed its work Friday afternoon after making the following nominations for candidates to the various state offices, from which the voters will make their selections of candidates at the primaries:

For governor—Judge John C. Karl of Milwaukee and A. J. Schmitz, Milwaukee.

For lieutenant governor—Henry W. Bolens of Port Washington.

Woodmen Favor Vote of Members on Increase; Will Ask Office Holders to Go on Record

Over 2,000 Woodmen will attend the convention of the Modern Woodmen of America Assembly of the southern district of Wisconsin to be held in this city August 21 and 22 according to members of the insurgent faction of the local camp today. It is estimated that fully 700 members from other counties in Wisconsin will attend and that 1,300 La Crosse county Woodmen will be present at the convention. The convention will be held in the old Y. M. C. A. building.

The call for the convention was issued by John L. Sundean, Minneapolis, national insurgent worker yesterday. A similar convention will be held for the eastern district of Wisconsin in Milwaukee a few days later, which Woodmen predict will be the largest attended convention ever held in Wisconsin. The announcement of the conventions was made at the meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America held here last night.

Want Referendum

A resolution, providing for a petition from the local camp to the head officers of the Woodmen asking for a referendum vote on advance of rates was carried by a vote of 62 to 2 at last night's meeting. This question has been bitterly fought not only in the La Crosse camps but in nearly every city in the United States. The La Crosse insurgent faction have been working for the last month in an effort to pass this resolution, which practically puts the local camp on record as opposing the advance of the rates.

Committees will be appointed at a meeting to be held soon to take charge of all the details in connection with the convention. Discussion on arrangements took place at last night's meeting but with the exception of instructing the officers to procure the old Y. M. C. A. hall, no definite action was taken.

Must Go on Record

The chief project of the convention will be to pass resolutions demanding that all public officials, of

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Senator William Lorimer of Illinois, was expelled from the senate this afternoon by a vote of 55 to 28. By that overwhelming verdict, his colleagues found him guilty of having been elected on May 24, 1903, by "corrupt methods and practices."

With Lorimer's dramatic assertion that his expulsion would be "the crime of the senate," his colleagues voted nearly two to one to oust him as a beneficiary of fraud.

Cullom Votes Against Him

Lorimer did not vote on his own case. But his aged colleague, Senator Cullom of Illinois, turned against him, after having formerly voted to keep him in the senate.

With a smile on his face Lorimer instantly arose from his seat and with a swinging gait, walked toward toward the republican cloak room. As he reached the door, Sen. Smoot grasped his hand and some friends from the house joined him.

Senators Dillingham, Jones and others who voted for Lorimer, joined him in the cloakroom and bade him good-bye.

Three senators were absent. Several were "paired" and could not vote. Senator Culberson of Texas originally voted to oust Lorimer, and then, being paired with Dupont of Delaware, who was absent, withdrew his vote.

Spoke Three Days

Lorimer's ejection followed a three days' speech by the senator, dramatic and replete with invective for his opponents. Beginning Thursday Lorimer had spoken in all eleven hours and a half, when he relinquished the floor at 1:40 this afternoon.

Lorimer's fight for his official life which ended this afternoon, when the senate doors closed behind his bulky figure, began almost immediately after his election.

On March 1, 1911, the senate voted to keep him in his seat, absolving him of misconduct. Further exposures resulted in a renewed probe, which culminated in his expulsion.

Lorimer's final summing up was dramatic. Fired with bitterness against his enemies, the Illinoisan turned a flood of invective toward his senatorial opponents. Standing in the center aisle, he shook his fist and defied them to pickfights in his explanation of evidence collected against him.

It was hot in the senate chamber, but packed galleries heard the de-

Stomach Blood and Liver Troubles

Much sickness starts with weak stomach, and consequent poor, impoverished blood. Nervous and pale-people lack good, rich, red blood. Their stomachs need invigorating for, after all, a man can be no stronger than his stomach. A remedy that makes the stomach strong and the liver active, makes rich red blood and overcomes and drives out disease-producing bacteria and cures a whole multitude of diseases.

Get rid of your Stomach Weakness and Liver Laziness by taking a course of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery—the great Stomach Restorative, Liver Invigorator and Blood Cleanser.

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

He's a Wonder.

There are many pompous men
Walking proudly on the earth,
Men of caliber and weight
Quite aware of all their worth,
But no matter what their build,
Fat or lean or short or tall,
Nor what calling they profess—
The conductor dwarfs them all!

With his feet set far apart
Gently with the train he sways.
Watch as with majestic mien
Hand to signal cord he'll raise.
To the question of his fares
He replies with ready ease.
Ah, what stately, lofty pose
As he orders, "Tickets, please!"

He is grand at any time,
But the acme of his art
Is discovered when the train,
Having stopped, is due to start.
All that dignity and pride
Can of consequence afford
Is far, far surpassed by him
When he tells, "All aboard!"

I don't care to die just yet,
Nor to see the river Styx,
But if I thought Charon knew
Any pompous posing tricks
That conductors here don't know,
Cheerfully this flesh I'd off,
And with joy take passage there
Just to see him show them off!

That Held Him.

Owen Johnson says that the best example of reprieve he has ever heard came from a New Haven book agent who still, as in Johnson's day at Yale, is called John Drew by the students because of his society manner.

Johnson was a freshman then, living in Pierson Hall. The book dealer knocked, entered, looked suavely about and remarked: "Ah, I see some new faces this year."

A would-be wit of Johnson's class responded, "Why, yes, we change them every year."

Instantly the book agent replied, still more suavely, "Ah, I trust that you will get a better face next year, young sir!"

A Modern Instance.

Murray Wheeler, vice consul for Russia at Mobile, said at a bountiful luncheon, apropos of Independence day.

"It is a sad but inspiring thing to think of that zellinger who, ringing out the tidings of American freedom, died for joy."

But a young English "remittance man" sneered at this remark and said:

"Have you ever known any one to be actually killed by joy?"

Mr. Wheeler smiled at the Briton and retorted:

"Well, I did know a beautiful Yankee heiress once who was found lying in the coffin of her husband, old Lord Laclands."

A True Spartan.

"It's easy enough to show Spartan composure on other people's behalf," said, in a Fourth of July address, Mayor Tideman of Savannah.

"You've heard, perhaps of the two Hessian soldiers under Cornwallis during the revolution. These men were acting as scouts in a swampy forest. They got separated, and, an hour later, one came upon the other up to his chin in a bog of quicksand."

"Ach, Hans, Hans, how am I to get out of this?" the poor fellow shrieked, in fear and anguish.

"I don't think you can get out of it," the other answered, with true Spartan calm.

Power Of The Ad.

Prof. Warren M. Beidler of Bethel, Pa., last month declared in an eloquent and witty commencement address that Americans were money mad.

"We're money mad," he reiterated the other day. "Art, inventions, flying—all things are considered by us wholly from the financial point of view."

"I recently heard of a novelist who declared that his novel had failed for lack of artistic skill."

"This amazed and pleased me. An American novelist to talk about art! It was unique. But then I heard the rest of the sentence."

"Yes," the novelist continued bitterly, "the lack of artistic skill on the part of my advertisement writer quite killed the book."

Out of Place.

Joseph Pennell, the distinguished etcher and equally distinguished biographer of Whistler, was asked, at a reception at the Penn club in Pennsylvania, why he and his brilliant wife did not go out in society more.

This question Mr. Pennell answered with an anecdote.

"A famous author," he said, "attended a dinner party at a very smart house in Grosvenor Square. Through all the chatter and champagne drinking and laughter of this dinner party the author sat silent. Ill at ease, a kind of sheepish and embarrassed grin spoiling the wonted dignity of his countenance."

"I expected him to be so very amusing," a fashionable beauty complained to the hostess afterwards, "but he never opened his mouth. What on earth was the matter with him?"

"Well, you see," the hostess answered, "he can only talk sense!"

The Moderate Drinker.

Mrs. Netty Kibby, conductor of the Sons of Temperance, said in an Independence day address some years ago in Worcester, apropos of moderate drinking:

"The moderate drinker's attitude seems to me most foolish and illogical. Doesn't the moderate drinker say just this:

"As long as I find I can stop, I won't stop; but as soon as I find I can't stop, I will!"

I looked up to find Mrs. Lathrop staring at me across the table. She colored, but kept her eyes bravely upon mine.

"If I was you, Mr. Ellsworth," she said, "I should go a little easy. That doctor deserves a good beating all right now, but it won't help either you or anybody else to kill him."

"Kill him?" I questioned.

"Yes," she said; "isn't that what you were thinking about? You have been sitting there for the last five minutes looking like battle, murder and sudden death."

"I don't wonder the doctor thought you observant, Mrs. Lathrop," I said. "It's all right, though. I'll remember not to kill him, although it will be pretty hard, once I get my hands on him."

"Well, I hope you do give him a good scare."

"You have asked me why I did not take my gloves off, Mrs. Lathrop. I keep them on because people find my hands unpleasant."

Mrs. Lathrop smiled incredulously. "Do just as you like," she said, "but I shouldn't be afraid I should think any such thing, if I were you."

I stripped one glove away, because I had had enough of the subject. To my surprise her face showed no flicker of astonishment.

"Well, take off the other," she said; "they don't trouble me any. What a queer young man you are! Do you expect a woman of my age to faint because your hands are a little marked? Some folks have stick-out ears, but they don't go around in ear tabs."

I took off my other glove.

"When did Mrs. Ellsworth give you the note?" I asked, after another little pause.

"This morning, just before the doctor came back for them. The nurse was looking at her watch and getting a little uneasy, I think; for every now and then she got up and went over to the window to look up the road. It was on one of these window trips she made, and while she had her back turned, that the young lady slid the note into my hand. I was going through the room, when she stopped me with her finger on her lips. I smiled and kept quiet, because, as I say, whether she was right in her mind or not, I liked her. And when I stopped she put one hand up to her hair and drew out that note, which was all rolled up like a pencil. 'If a gentleman called Mason Ellsworth comes,' she said, 'will you please give him this?' And to please her I took it and smiled again. She would have told me more, I think; but just then that woman turned from the window and saw us together. In about five minutes the doctor came, and though she tried hard she didn't get another chance to speak to me, and, for that matter, it wasn't barely five minutes before the two of them started with her to the station, which is where you'd better be starting now, Mr. Ellsworth, to be sure and catch your train. There is one in twenty minutes for Philadelphia, and unless they started early just to fool me, it was a train for Philadelphia they took themselves."

"You've been very good to me, Mrs. Lathrop," I said, "and I do not know what I can ever do to repay your kindness both to me and to my wife."

"I do," said Mrs. Lathrop. "You can write to me when you have found her."

The Collar and Tie.

For a happy man green fields and country lanes, pastoral sights and the murmurous harmonies of nature lend themselves as a fitting and tender glory to his happiness. Serenities echo back serenities, and the great and happy heart of nature beats in blissful accord with his own. But for a man whose happiness has been disturbed, whose life has been touched by care or sorrow, these accorded sights and sounds of the country are oppressive madness, and the very greatness of their eternal quality plagues and vexes him the more. For the country is never out of tune with itself; its music is one vast elemental chord and has been the same for all time. So the man out of tune with himself and with the world finds the clanging discords of the many-noted city a shock of vigorous relief. Here is not one great melody, but rather the vigorous uproar of a thousand tunes; where the sane country would have driven him mad, the mad city shouts him back to sanity.

My little cross-roads local drew into Philadelphia like a farmer coming to the fair. And as I stepped into the busy turmoil of the station and shouldered my way through the hurrying impersonal crowd, every moral fiber in me took tonic and vigor from the hurly-burly about. A wise man has called man's relations with his fellow beings "antagonistic co-operation," and the phrase is a miracle of inspiration, for we shrink from the touch or too-intimate glance of those about us in instinctive resentment, and yet no healthy person wishes himself very distant from this human intimacy.

Each one of us feels that he seeks his lonely goal alone, yet feels that he has lost his way, unless he moves

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE SAVES WORRY, SAVE MONEY, SAVES THE HAIR

If you want to free your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. S. A. Lee, of 110 South 4th St., Richmond, Va., who writes:

"Four years' residence in Indian ruined my hair until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a typical history of hair troubles. After everything else fails Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and prevents falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the claims of others, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Applications at good barber shops.

Send 10c for sample bottle to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Hoeschler Bros., special agents.

with the crowd down the same great road. And even to communicate wit those about us the simplest thought is only half told in many words. When all is said and done, love is the only language that ever makes one being comprehensible to another. With Nancy I had been happy for the first time in my life; with Nancy gone, this jostle of humanity awoke in me a militant confidence and a potent belief that I should find mine own.

It was therefore, with almost a feeling of elation that I set about my task, and, as is usual with confidence, my first move was the right one.

"I wonder if you remember," I asked the Pullman agent, "a man in a brown derby hat who came to you this morning, and probably wanted a private compartment to New York; a tall man with sloping shoulders, a large nose and eyes set too near together. He was dressed in a brown suit with narrow stripe, and may or may not have had two ladies with him."

GIRLS HAVE A CLOSE CALL

SPARTA, Wis., July 13.—Four young ladies, the Misses Doris McAuliffe, Sallie Jefferson, Katherine Tyler and Laverne Blackman, met with an accident Tuesday evening, which while it has not resulted as seriously as was at first feared, was still bad enough. The girls were just returning from a week's outing at Spring Bank, and had taken passage in one of the buses at the Northwestern depot, when the horses became frightened at something and started to run. The throat latch on the bridge fell off one of the animal's heads, leaving the driver unable to control them. In going around a corner, the rig was overturned, and three of the girls were cut considerably by broken glass. The last one, Miss Blackman, jumped out and landed on the hard pavement, rendering her unconscious, in which condition she remained until afternoon of the following day, and is now recovering. The driver escaped with a broken ankle.

Peter Lee, who has been ill for about two weeks at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ora DeWitt, died on Monday afternoon at the age of 87 years. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the DeWitt home, Rev. H. R. Hogan officiating.

Mr. Lee was one of Monroe county's old time citizens, having been one of its best residents for over sixty years, the greater part of which he spent on a farm near Leon. His wife died some twenty-three years ago and left him with their two daughters, Mrs. Ora DeWitt and Mrs. Simon Wells, who survive him.

The remains of Mrs. Esther E. McIntyre were brought to Sparta Tuesday from Minneapolis, where she died the previous day at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Hamley. Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mrs. McIntyre was an old time resident of this county, with her family having been residents of Leon for many years, afterward moving to Watertown, then to Sparta. Her husband, who was an active business man, lost his health and died about five years ago.

Frank Rhyme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rhyme, has been here from his Madelia home for a few days, looking out for a farm. He finally bought the Carl Pierce farm in West Beaver Creek.

L. T. Hill is having a new porch erected on the east side of his beautiful home on Franklin street. It is to be something larger than the ordinary, and made in the modern up-to-date style.

Elvin Graf returned home Tuesday. He has been taking charge of the Pickwick Clothes Shop during the absence of the manager.

2 KILLED WHEN CAR TAKES FIRE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 13.—Two women were killed and three others are believed to be dying as a result of a panic on a burning street car here today. When the car took fire the motorman refused to release the gates. The passengers were thus held in the car, and becoming panicked, began jumping from the windows. Two of the women were crushed to death and the three others seriously injured.

TORTOISE PILOTS SHIPS IN STRAITS

A feature of special interest at the La Crosse theater last evening in the trip through the Strait of New Zealand, is the pilot, who almost every day for the past twenty years has piloted every vessel through the passage in low water, which is not only dangerous but most impossible to pass through. An old tortoise of great size has taken this responsibility upon himself for all those years, swimming just ahead of every vessel, unerring in his intention of seeing the boats safely through. Several years ago an Englishman thought it a joke to fire a rifle at this benefactor, wounding him, but for three months the mariners' friend failed to show up and his absence

Govs. Stubbs, Deneen, and Hadley.

If Col. Roosevelt can show that he is a winner, he can count on the support of governors and senators who are now perched on the fence, undecided what to do. If he fails to develop strength, they will abide safely within the Republican party. Hadley and Deneen are supposed to be against the third party plan, but they have recently shown signs of sticking around to see what will happen. Gov. Stubbs is for Roosevelt, all right, but he hopes the Republican party of Kansas can be turned to T. R.'s support, so that no third party will be necessary in his state.

SAYS RELIGION IS SECOND TO CASH

Head of Marquette University Declares American Education Is Too Much for Wealth

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—What Christ says does not count with Americans as much as what John D. Rockefeller and Pierpont Morgan say. Ask the average American boy of today why God made him, and he will answer you, "To make money."

There are many boys who do not know who God is. We have lost largely as a nation the ability to see souls. We see gold instead. We are striving for things we cannot reach. Our youths have wrong notions in their heads; scholars grow fewer but money making machines increase. The cry that every heart seems to hear is "Look out for yourself, make money."

Rev. Joseph A. Murphy, vice president of Marquette university, brought into play these statements in a bitter arraignment of the present educational system before a large audience in Gesu auditorium last night. Summing up the "standard of the American youth today," Dr. Murphy took issue with the statement of Carroll G. Pearce, president of the National Education association, who, in a speech to the delegates in Chicago, said the school is taking the place of the home. The standard of the American youth today is to make money, he said. "One of the greatest dangers to this country is the absence of religious education in American public schools. The nation has and is more so with our present educational system, resolving itself into a nation lost in intense adoration of the golden calf."

RICH WIDOW WHO WANTS EASTERN HUSBAND GETS THREE MAIL SACKS OF ANSWERS

CHICAGO, July 13.—Mrs. Clara L. Brown, the rich widow who asked Mayor Gaynor of New York and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston to find her a male, declaring she could not see the corn fed products of the west, is today busily engaged in sorting the contents of three large mail sacks, proposals of marriage from eligible bachelors, "corn fed" and otherwise.

No one suspected the matronly lady who entered the Congress with her maid of being the owner of the six figure fortune, who had a hankering for a cultured eastern husband. She immediately made herself known however, took her mail and left with the mail and maid in a taxicab.

The maid, very winsome, who is to act as armor against avaricious Chicago barbarians, told the reporters Mrs. Brown was going to New York, but whether she would enter the matrimonial lists in the east, the maid did not know.

Snowstorms in July.

Early in July there occurred snowstorms in certain very warm regions, notably about Mount Etna, which at this time begins to scatter the accumulation of snow which that volcano has conserved during the winter. The crater of Etna is 3,279 meters in height, and during the winter months the snow packs into the crevices of the mountain, to be driven out by the summer winds.

Horse in Warfare.

An army officer, writing of the importance of the horse in warfare, says that automobiles have not appreciably lessened the demand for horses or mules in the army. One of these animals, he says, is needed for every man in a properly equipped military force. Immense numbers of horses perish in every war through starvation, it being almost impossible to provide forage for them during the exigencies of a campaign.

Bravery a State of Mind.

The Norsemen never feared death. They were as brave on land as on the sea. It was their belief that brave warriors at death would be taken to the land of Valhalla, where they might fight and hunt and feast for ages. They believed that every night wounds received during the day would heal, and they would be ready for fresh adventures in the morning.

A Safe Rule.

Tea and coffee should not be given to a child under seven, and the longer the delay the better. A good cocoa is often enjoyed, milk and water and diluted condensed milk may also be given, and, very cautiously, plain soda water. It should never be forgotten that milk is a food and not a drink, and that plenty of water flushes the kidneys. There is no reason why a healthy child should not drink when it feels thirsty.

Busy Day for Spicers.

The fancy of the young people of Austria turns to thoughts of matrimony at carnival time, and carnival Sunday—Fasching Sonntag—is usually a busy day for those who tie the matrimonial knot. The records for this year show that on February 18 upward of one thousand and one hundred couples were united in marriage in the various Roman Catholic churches of Vienna.

Thomas' Method.

Theodore Thomas was once asked how he managed to impart such vitality and lightness to his orchestra's playing of the Strauss waltzes. His answer was: "Have you ever noticed that I always beat the first stroke of the rhythm up instead of down? You cannot put the life and continuous motion of the dance into a piece of music if you knock the poor tune down at the beginning of every measure."

Value of a Laugh.

When you go to visit the sick do not forget that a good laugh is one of the best tonics and a bit of humorous gossip or piquant saying is better than any drugs. Make the invalid smile if you cannot start up a laugh, but make your visit short; remember that too much of a good thing is as bad as too little.

INVESTIGATE DEATH AT INSANE ASYLUM

ST. PETER, Minn., July 13.—Having viewed the body of William A. Helfmann, a jury of pioneer St. Peter citizens is ready to take evidence at a coroner's hearing at the state hospital for the insane, and to judge whether the dead patient met his end through undue violence. The little town of St. Peter is wrought up over the case, and Dr. G. F. Merritt, coroner of Nicollet county, is eager for the finding of the jury. Senator J. L. Schain of Browns Valley, president of the state board of visitors, and J. C. Matchitt, secretary of the board, arrived here, and in addition to attending the hearing, will make a regular semi-annual inspection of the insane hospital on behalf of the board. Senator Schain says he would not be surprised if Governor Eberhart calls on the board to investigate the Helfmann case.

"If there is anything irregular here the board wants to know it," said the senator, "and if we are called on to investigate the charges made they will be sifted to the bottom."

GOVERNOR BACKS HOME MILITIA

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 13.—Although D. D. Mayne, principal of the state farm school, denies he threatened to discharge an employee of the school for joining his regiment to take part in the National Guard maneuvers at Lake City, the story of the alleged threat has estranged the relations between the school and the adjutant general Governor Eberhart also took the side of the adjutant general.

In a conversation over the telephone Mr. Mayne attempted to justify his action to Ralph Wheelock, the governor's private secretary. He was given to understand that such procedure would not be tolerated. It is understood that Mr. Mayne will not endeavor to go further because of the row he has precipitated.

SASKATCHEWAN IS FOR RECIPROCITY

REGINA, Sask., July 13.—Returns of the Saskatchewan elections to noon yesterday show that Walter Scott, Liberal, has been returned by an increased majority. The standing shows: Liberals, 35; Conservatives, 10; doubtful, 7. Elections in two constituencies were postponed. Previously, the Liberals had 23 seats and the Conservatives 13, but at this election the seats had been increased from 41 to 54, and the Liberals are proclaiming the result a substantial victory for reciprocity, indicating that the west favors such an arrangement.

No trace of them was found and it is now believed they are perished in one of the cross sections high up on the breast. Despite the imminent danger of further slides, the rescuers continued their efforts to reach the men and were hopeful they might be located by tomorrow.

Amount of Campaign
Money

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Baffled in its search for details of the enormous campaign fund collections in 1904 and 1908, through the defective memories of both the republican and democratic national managers and their testimony that all records had been destroyed, the special senate investigating committee faces a dilemma.

The committee has decided to continue its hunt for information as to the 1904 campaign before beginning on the presidential race of 1908. George B. Sheldon, who was treasurer of the national republican committee in 1904, will be called shortly. While no definite arrangements have yet been made, it was understood that Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, Taft's manager in 1908, and Norman E. Mack of New York, Bryan's general manager in the same campaign, will be called.

It was understood today that several members of the committee are urging that Roosevelt be called to testify regarding his knowledge of the collection and disbursements during his campaign.

WILD WEST AND FAR EAST IN ONE

The combined forces of Col. Cody's original exhibition the Wild West and Pawnee Bill's story of the Far East, with its primitive peoples on the same line as regards human interest, have been united together, and naturally give a very interesting exhibition.

With four open-air melodramas, an Oriental spectacle, and a host of reckless horsemen on Western bronchos, there will be a genuine atmosphere of the open plains, rugged frontier and desert life in the exhibition to be given in this city by Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East. There will be scenes of peace and warfare combined in one of the scenic features, the wagon train, which will show the pastimes of the plainsman and cowboy, and will end in a vigorous Indian attack upon the whites, a repulse and final rout of the red men. The rough riders will display various feats of horsemanship. There will be a quadrille on horseback, bronchos and mustangs in displays of difficult tricks; there will be "broncho busting" and many other forms of accomplished horsemanship by riders gathered from the Far East and once Wild West. In every way the exhibition will uphold its standard as an open-air entertainment.

CHECK PLAGUE POSSIBILITY

NEW YORK, July 13.—Being determined to prevent the spread of bubonic plague to this country, government quarantine inspectors today boarded the Earn line steamship Currier, in from Havana, with a cargo of molasses and refused to allow the ship to dock until it had been thoroughly fumigated.

KATHERINE FORCE TO BE MARRIED SOON TO BROOKLYN MAN WITH FINE PROSPECTS

Miss Katherine E. Force.

Report comes from New York that the interesting question as to whom Katherine Force, nineteen, sister of Mrs. John Jacob Astor, will marry has been finally solved. The man who captured the pretty young girl is Henri C. Harnickell, a Brooklyn broker, not wealthy, but with fine prospects. The marriage is set for the near future.

CLASH IN BRIBE CASE WILL RECALL GOMEZ

DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND DARROW'S LAWYERS IN LIVELY TILT OVER EXAMINATION OF WITNESS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 13.—A lively tilt between District Attorney Frederick and Defense Attorney Horace Appel enlivened today's session of the Darrow bribery trial.

The clash came during cross examination by Assistant District Attorney Ford of Charles Hawley. Ford launched a series of questions "with the evident attempt to confuse the witness," according to Appel, who was interrupted by Appel, and he was interrupted by Appel, who accused him of trifling and endeavoring to annoy the witness and the jury. Fredericks leaped to his feet and advancing toward Appel, cried: "You apparently think the state is represented in this case by babes and sucklings. The place for such remarks is outside the court room, where our hands are not tied by respect for this court."

"I have a right to criticize the prosecution's representatives wherever and whenever I please," shouted Appel.

He was about to reply further when the court interrupted with the order that the verbal battle must cease. The cross examination of Hawley occupied almost the entire morning. He reviewed his testimony of yesterday, when he told of a telephone conversation with Darrow that caused Darrow to start to the socialist headquarters, on the morning of Bert Franklin's arrest.

DRUNK, SHOTS WIFE, SISTER AND SELF

HASTINGS, Minn., July 13.—William H. Mowry, shot and probably mortally wounded his wife and his wife's sister, Mrs. E. J. Brown. He then committed suicide, cutting his throat from ear to ear with a razor.

Mowry, who is night watchman at the Hastings state asylum, was in a frenzied state caused by domestic trouble and drink and deliberately planned the crime.

Doing beats wishing, but it's hard.

BELIEVED OROZCO INTENDS TO PUT REPUDIATED LEADER BACK AS ITS PRESIDENT

EL PASO, Texas, July 13.—Following a conference of rebel leaders in Juarez it was stated yesterday Emilio Gomez would be recalled by Orozco to become provisional president of the revolutionary government. Gomez now is in San Antonio, Texas, where he went after being repudiated by Orozco in a former pronouncement. It is said by rebel chiefs in Juarez that Juarez is to be defended against federal attack and it will continue the rebel capital.

NO TROUBLE FEARED OVER BRITISH KICK

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Purely a legislative matter, which has not yet reached the importance of a diplomatic crisis, was the way the state department today summed up the situation created by England's protest against the Panama canal bill.

England's note, fully explaining her objections to the provisions governing the big ditch, is expected next week.

The principal development today was the possibility that Great Britain's protest against the legislation may cause a postponement of its consideration until next session.

TO MAKE CHILEAN GUNS.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The Bethlehem Steel company landed a large part of the contract for the Chilean coast defense guns, the state department reported today.

The remainder of the order was placed with a British firm.

REYNOLDS RESIGNS JOB

WASHINGTON, July 13.—James B. Reynolds, recently elected secretary of the republican national committee resigned from the tariff board today to enter upon his campaign duties.

FOLLOWS WIFE TO SUICIDE'S GRAVE

Wealthy Stock Broker
Whose Spouse Killed
Self Two Weeks Ago,
Dies in Same Way

NEW YORK, July 13.—Alvah J. Gibbs is dead by his own act in his palatial home in Yonkers. He was found asphyxiated in the bathroom, sitting on a chair, a large picture of his wife in his hands, and across his face a smile of perfect peace. Tomorrow he will be buried in a grave alongside of that in which rests the body of the wife he had loved so devotedly that he could not live after she had gone. Two weeks ago she killed herself in the same room. She had been a chronic invalid for two years and the doctors had told her that there was no hope of recovery.

Gibbs was a retired stock broker. For years he had worked night and day to acquire a competency that he and the woman he idolized might end their days in luxury. When he retired three years ago it seemed he had attained his desire. But his wife had taken ill with an incurable malady and their money could not purchase relief for her. Gibbs found her dead when he came home two weeks ago. He tried then to kill himself, but was prevented by friends. He has since been despondent so when the opportunity came last night he hastened to rejoin the wife of his youth.

REFUSE TAGGART RELEASE

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—Thomas Taggart is still the member of the democratic national committee from Indiana. The democratic state committee refused to accept his nomination and he was notified of the action at French Lick, Ind., over the long distance telephone by State Chairman Bernard Korbly. "Well, I guess all that I can do is to go and work," was Taggart's reply when he received the news.

WAS SOMETHING LIKE A RUN

Munchausen Tells About a Bit of Sprinting He Witnessed in Scotland.

"Talkin' about runnin'," remarked Hon. Ananias Munchausen, "about the finest bit of sprintin' I ever saw was up in Scotland the shootin' season before last. I'd been out all day deer-shootin', and had had most awful luck when I spied a whoppin' great buck about eighteen hundred yards away. Takin' a careful sight, I let fly. But, bless your soul, the instant my bullet touched him, and before it had time to penetrate his hide, that beast was off like a flash!

"I never saw two such evenly matched things as that deer and my bullet. For over half a mile they sped on together, neither gainin' on the other, the bullet just managin' to keep in touch with the deer's skin. At the end of a mile, however, the pace began to tell on the deer, and he faltered just for a moment. 'Twas fatal. The bullet sped on, and the poor beast keeled over. He deserved his freedom if ever an animal did. He'd have got it, too, if he could have stuck out for another twenty yards, for that's about as far as my rifle carries."

On Boston Common.

Comparatively few people know that there was once a "spinning school" on Boston Common. Winsor's "Memorial History of Boston" records that upon the arrival in Boston of some Irish spinners and weavers a spinning crase took possession of the town, "and the women, young and old, high and low, rich and poor, flocked into the spinning school, which for want of better quarters, was set up in the Common, in the open air. Here the whirr of their wheels was heard from morning to night." Thirty-five years later the Society for Encouraging Industry and Employing the Poor again used the Common as a spinning school, about 300 young women appearing there.

Man's Own Horn.

"I should think some of these speechmakers would get tired of hearing themselves," said the proprietor of the village store. "Human nature's the same in politics as 'tis anywhere else," replied old Joe Struthers. "A man don't mind listenin' to the worst noise a cornet can make, provided he's the feller that's doin' the practicin'."

Whole Hog or None.

"Whole hog or none" refers to the alleged custom of Mahomet to allow his followers to eat all except one portion of a pig, which portion, however, was not specified. The result therefore was that if a Mahometan did not wholly avoid the use of pork he might as well run the risk of consuming the whole hog as to eat any portion thereof.

Forests of Scotland.

Scotland contains a considerable number of well preserved and imposing forests, cared for and protected for centuries. One of these forests contains more than 5,000 acres, with many trees more than three feet in diameter.

Great Motto.

"That 'E pluribus unum' is a great motto," said Dr. Dustin Stax. "I think I'll apply it to the big business I built up in Wall street." "I don't see how you can do so." "Why, they told me it means 'won out of many.'"

DYSPEPSIA Catarrh of the Stomach

Are you satisfied with your stomach?
Have you experimented all you care to?
Would you really like Relief?

It is safe to say that, in an assemblage of one hundred people, seventy-five per cent of them have some stomach trouble. Of course, the individual is to blame, generally speaking. The stomach is one of the most abused organs in the human body, not because the average individual desires to injure himself, but because, in ignorance of the laws of health, he commits errors in diet that promote acidity and inflammation of the stomach.

The common and easily recognized symptoms of stomach trouble are loss of appetite, food is distasteful, later vomiting and pain, pressure on the surface over the region of the stomach is unbearable on account of the extreme soreness resulting from the inflammation. There is apt to be a bad taste in the mouth, with dryness of tongue and more or less fever. In some cases dizziness and headache are noted, and there is a burning thirst not easily satisfied by drinking cold water. It is only a step from these described conditions to the chronic stages, when the fever grows less but the mucus accumulates rapidly and the digestive fluid is diminished so that the food lies for hours in the stomach, undigested, and decomposes into gas and certain other irritating and poisonous bodies.

Constipation generally follows, with swelling of the stomach and abdomen, and the victim becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable. At times there are attacks of pain, nausea or sickness at the stomach. The attacks may occur frequently or weeks may elapse between them. The constipation may be interrupted by spells of looseness of the bowels and the discharge of gas. Oftentimes when the accumulation of gas is pronounced, the pressure is so great as to cause pains in the heart and the victim immediately fears some organic heart trouble. As a climax to the difficulty that originates in the digestive organs, the victim is poorly nourished, loses flesh, grows weak and pallid, becomes listless, indifferent and low-spirited; in short, he becomes a "chronic old dyspeptic" as the common saying goes.

If you have pain in the stomach, loss of appetite, what you think is dyspepsia or indigestion, bad taste in the mouth or foul breath, sick headache, catarrh, gas, gnawing sensation, nervousness, heartburn, bloated feeling, then your stomach trouble has become a chronic fact and the need for expert assistance becomes a necessity. That is where a stomach specialist becomes a public benefactor. That is why people come to Dr. Turbin and give their cases with confidence in his hands.

USE IT MORNING, NOON, NIGHT

SHALL WE REDUCE OUR CAVALRY

A Measure in Which Military Men Find Great Danger—
Civil War Photographs Show Federal Cavalry
Learning Lessons That Took Three Years to Apply—
The Eyes and Ears of the Infantry.

Congress has been asked to reduce the cavalry. In this measure military men find grave danger to the efficiency of our army. They point out that horse soldiers take more time to train than foot—two or three years, instead of a few months.

The newly found photographs of the Civil War show more graphically than words can tell how many thousands of lives, the lack of an adequate, trained cavalry force cost the North in the first years of that gigantic struggle. They show the Federal horsemen learning lessons that it took them all of three years to apply.

In the meanwhile, the hold cavalry raids of Stuart and Mosby had cost the Union something like $120,000,000.00.

In the later years of the war, the cavalry not only became the eyes and ears of the army, but the branch of the service upon which it chiefly depended for food. The cavalry guarded the provision trains, enabling them to march faster and overtake the moving infantry columns, and protecting them from the destructive raids which often had caused the infantry, disoriented by lack of food, and without a bullet fired to scurry back to their base of supplies. It was Van Dorn's capture at Holly Springs that caused Grant's first failure against Vicksburg.

A photograph taken on May 30, 1864, shows another important function of the cavalry, the "screening" of the army's movements. In this photograph the troops are seen guarding the evacuation of Port Royal on the Rappahannock. After the reverse to the Union arms at Spotsylvania, Grant ordered the change of base from the Rappahannock to McClellan's former starting place, White House on the Pamunkey.

Sheridan's efficient use of the cavalry made this an easy matter. Torbert's division encountered Gordon's brigade of Confederate cavalry at Hanovertown and drove it in the direction of Hanover Court House. Gregg's division moved up to this line; Russell's division of infantry encamped near the river crossing in support, and behind the mask thus formed the Army of the Potomac crossed the Pamunkey unimpeded. Gregg was then ordered to reconnoiter towards Mechanicsville, and after a severe fight at Hawes' shop he succeeded with the assistance of Custer's brigade in driving Hampton's and Fitzhugh Lee's cavalry divisions and Butler's brigade from the field.

Although the battle took place immediately in front of the Federal infantry, General Meade declined to put the latter into action, and the battle was won by the cavalry alone.

The war-time photograph of "Phil" Sheridan shows the man who led the Federal cavalry to triumph but only after three years of bitter preparation.

To cripple the present cavalry nucleus of the United States army might have effects that the most peaceful and economical citizen would regret.

Bull Moose Grateful to One T. Roosevelt

"Oh, I was little known to fame,"
The shaggy Bull Moose said,
Before this fellow Ted,
With pity in his breast for me
Did lead me forth one day
From dark and chill obscurity
To where Fame's sunbeams play.
One word from great T. R.,
Did spread my name afar.

"Before T. R. did bring me forth
That happy day in June,
No one had ever deemed me worth
News-item or cartoon.
But now cartoonists keen do oft
Me draw, and journalists tell
How I, Bull Moose, am perched aloft
On Fame's high pinnacle.
How quickly rose my star
With one word from T. R.

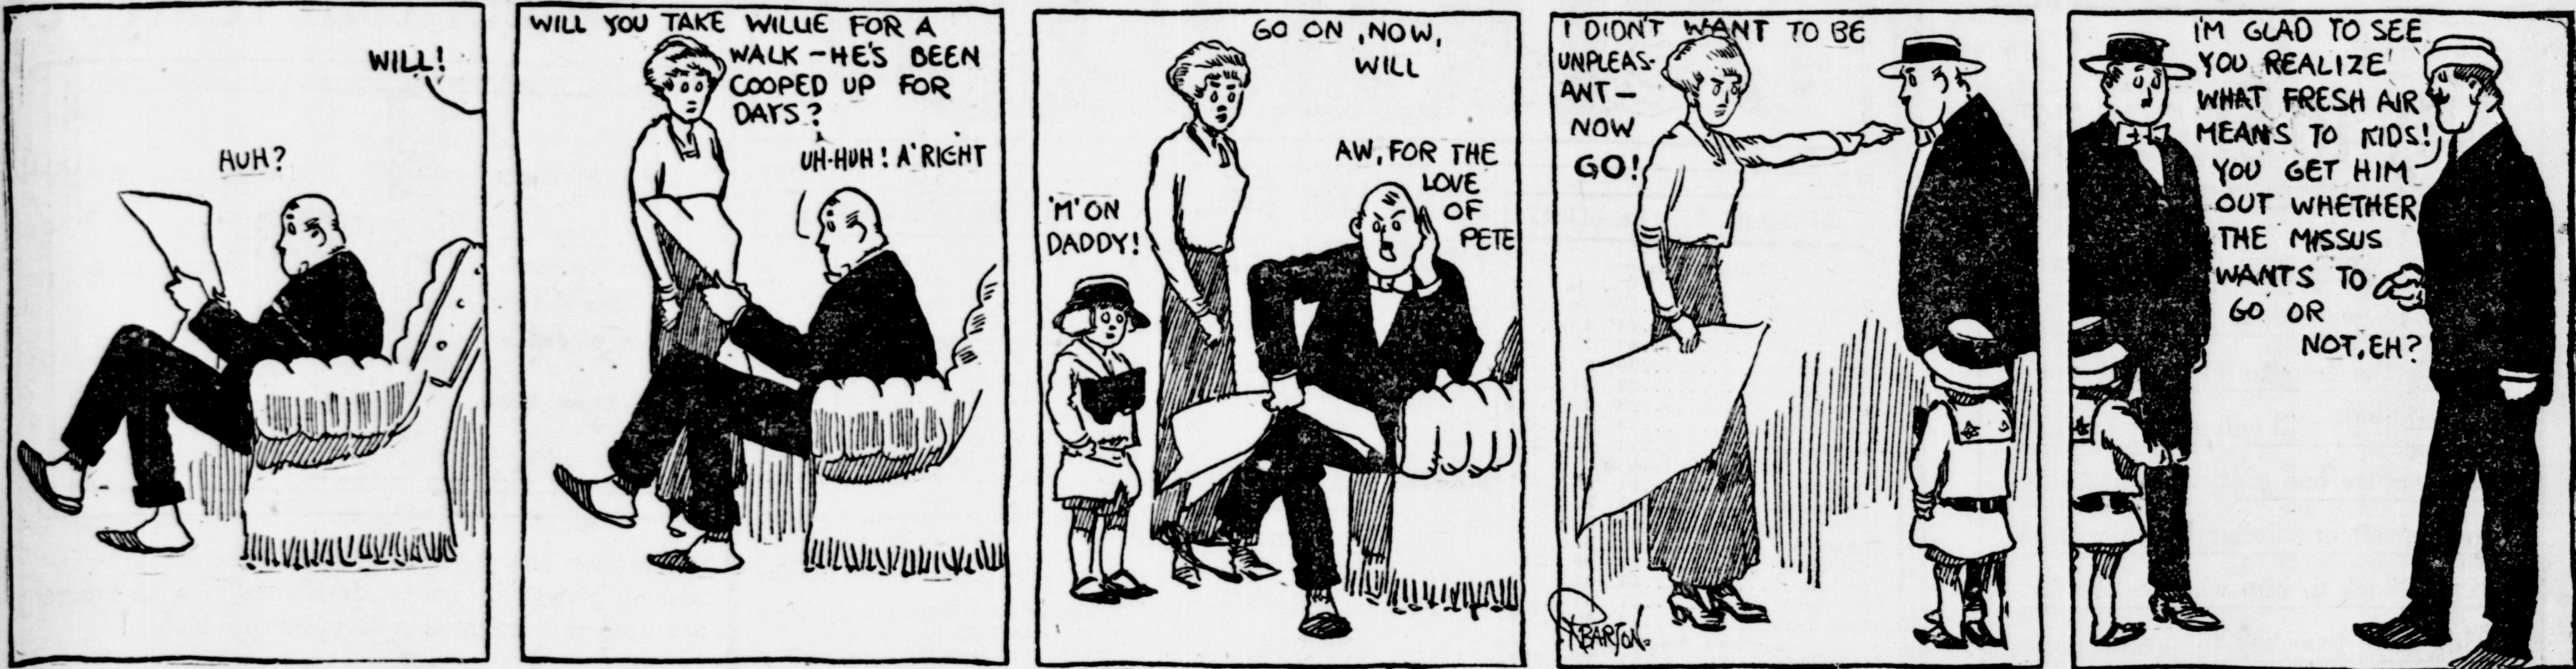

"And so I say, let come what may,
I'll ne'er forget the man
Who made my name a household word
Within a day's short span.
The Ted should travel up Salt Creek
And men forget his name.
E'en then should I remember him,
And how he brought me fame.
Still would I shout afar,
'Hooray for old T. R.'"

FAN-ATICAL FANCIES

Watson won another shutout game yesterday when Oshkosh whitewashed the Green Bay club 3 to 0, Watson allowing but eight hits. The former Outcast twirler has been doing some great work on the slab for Joe Killian's team this year.

Helgeson made his appearance as a Wausau pitcher yesterday, hurling part of the game against Appleton and being relieved by Delave. Appleton won the game, which was a heavy hitting affair, 9 to 8. Billy Wals did the backstopping for Wausau and he slammed out two hits in three times up. Russ Bailey, former leader of the Eau Claire team, is playing center field for Wausau.

Sylvester, the former star athlete of the Appleton high school and the man who put up a star game when the La Crosse and Appleton basketball teams played at Madison two years ago, is now the star first baseman of the Appleton club of the W-I. league. He is hitting the ball hard in addition to playing a wonderful game around the initial sack.

Evidently Eddie Collins had a good hunch when he said that the Red Sox and Athletics would fight it out for the American league pennant. At present Boston is leading the league by a good margin and they are playing a whirlwind game. It looks as if the world's champs have their work cut out for them in catching up to the Red Sox.

Reports from New York say that McGraw is worried in spite of the fact that the Giants are in first place and have a margin of some twelve games. His cause for worry is that he has practically a one man pitching staff in Rube Marquardt.

Mathewson is hurling good ball, but he is not as brilliant as in former years, while Ames, Wiltse and Crandall are not to be depended upon. It is said that McGraw is willing to pay a fancy price for a reliable twirler, as many consider the Pittsburgh and Chicago slab artists superior to the New York pitchers.

Ed Konetchy continues to hit the ball with great regularity, the last average showing that the idol of the St. Louis fans is batting at a .356 clip. The former local player has been hitting around the .350 mark all season and his batting has been very consistent. In this department he is leading all the St. Louis players.

As soon as a championship team begins to slip, the fans invariably get busy with the hammer. Connie Mack's Athletics, after a poor start, have been playing good ball lately, but they have not been playing up to the standard of the Red Sox, and now many rumors regarding the cause of the champs' slump are abroad. Some say that the members of the infield are not on speaking terms and so will not play their best, but we notice that the champions are still up within striking distance of the lead.

Ty Cobb gained a bit on Joe Jackson in their slugger's race, hitting twice in five times, while Joe failed in four trips.

The Athletics passed the White Sox and went into third place by taking both halves of a double header. Mack's men seem to be climbing steadily.

Shanks of Washington got three of his team's six hits off Galer. Jim Vaughn won from the Naps, pitching nice ball.

Larry Cheney came right back at the Braves after getting credit for a win over the Giants the day before, and let Kling's kids down with six hits.

ROOSEVELT LAUGHS AT LORIMER CHARGE

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 13.—Senator Lorimer's allegations that he had consented to the attempted bribery of delegates to the recent Chicago republican convention seemed to afford Colonel Roosevelt much amusement. When his attention was called to the Lorimer speech of yesterday in which the Illinois senator gave the names of the Taft delegates, who, he said, were offered money to desert Taft, Roosevelt asked: "Who presented those affidavits?"

"Senator Lorimer of Illinois," he was told.
Roosevelt threw back his head and laughed heartily. Then he said: "Well, I don't think I care to make any comment on what Lorimer of Illinois has to say now. To know who was the introducer of such affidavits ought to be enough for the average man."

NEAR-NEWS AND CHATTER FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

To the lady first correctly guessing the identity of the person of whom the following is a character sketch, and bringing a copy of this paper to The Tribune office, a cash prize of $1.00 will be given. The subject of the sketch is a prominent citizen of La Crosse. After winning one prize, a contestant will not be eligible to again compete for a period of three months.

A. C. Wolfe was the subject represented in last week's "Guess Who's Here" contest. The winner was Miss Frances Bailey, 2105 Cass street.

Glancing at his name, the noblest Roman of them all, or any old Roman, would derive these ideas that were an ancestral trait, or achievement, or accident or whatever fact were in the old days when his family, like all families, was adopting a family name preparatory to furnishing occupation to genealogical publishing houses carrying city directories as a side line. On the other hand, the American who never has been afflicted with Latin would gather from our hero's name no nobler conclusion that could be expressed in the word, "Bohemian!" or, giving credit to the "sky," "Russian!" Oh, fudge! Just at this moment the copy reader kicks in with information our hero spells it "Pades." Instead of "Pedes," so please forget what has been said and don't tack the sky line on just to see what it all amounts to. We can't change it now or start over, for this junk is going to press in a minute. He used to infest the city hall, where an easy-going official generously permitted him to do the work. He's an expert on wrappers—Sumatra, not calico. He declines to permit a certain two-handed attorney (he who vanquished Holtsmann) to engage in shadow boxing without interposing his own substance between the boxer and the shadow. By the way, any lady getting close enough to guess his name is pretty apt to surround him with predatory intent, for this fellow is some kid.

SHOULD AULD ACQUAINTANCE BE FORGOTTEN

Fourteen years ago, John Mohre came to La Crosse in the interests of the Singer Sewing Machine company and soon became one of the well known citizens of La Crosse. Previous to his coming to La Crosse he had held a similar position at Wausau. For eight years, Mr. Mohre continued in his capacity with the Singer company. Six years ago his political ambitions awakened and he resigned to accept the position of undersheriff. Two years later he became a candidate for the position of sheriff but was defeated. Shortly after this he was offered the agency of the Singer machine at Ishpeming, Mich., which offered excellent prospects and which he accepted.

"I've been a good deal of a hog-trotter myself," observed Judge James Farrell, as we partook of light refreshments in a popular cafe. "O! mane I've been a globe-trotter, ye git me," corrected Jim, although Pete Newburg, his vis-a-vis, never batted an eye. "I outfitted the Honorable Jim the first time he crossed the water," said Pete. "Jim has been over and back and over and back until he can distinguish between a Newfoundland and London fog with the naked nose. "The judge came in from the farm and put the matter of a suitable wardrobe straight up to me," continued Pete. "O! don't say I'll be presided at court, an' I don't say I won't," says Hon. Jim, with the air of a man who knew that kings and potentates awaited his pleasure. In those days Jim knew more about potatoes than potatoes, but he had a leaning toward potatoes; nowadays he knows all about both, and prefers the potatoes. "Well, we drolled Jim up in gray traveling sack and stuffed a Prince Albert into his bag. But Jim wouldn't have it that way. He wore the dress coat in the train, and stopped in Chicago long enough to can the derby I sold him and buy a silk tie. Let me whisper to you, confidentially, that the Hon. Judge Farrell was about the fanciest hall-tree who ever served corned beef and cabbage over the rail of a transatlantic liner."

Judge Farrell grinned good-naturedly at Mr. Newburg. "I WAS a bit raw talm days," he observed, "but I was sophisticated entirely compared with your Dutch cousins I met in France. "So-o, you iss from America?" sezee. "You moost know meine toechter (daughters). Gretchen iss by Kalamazoo, Katrina iss by St. Augustine and Hedwig—sure you know die schoene Hedwig—she iss by Sacramento."

But, as Mr. Newburg thereupon pertinently remarked, all this ancient history hasn't anything to do with the free bridge.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT PROVES FAILURE

Cut Veins in Wrist, but Is Too Weak to Sever Windpipe; May Recover

George Zein, 328 North Fourth street, is lying at the La Crosse hospital in a critical condition today as a result of an attempt to commit suicide by cutting his throat with a razor, this morning. His cries attracted Frank H. Grebner, a cigar maker who notified his parents and attempted to staunch the flow of blood. Dr. J. A. Rowles was summoned and Zein was removed to the La Crosse hospital. His condition this afternoon favors his recovery. Zein who is a young man is said to have told his mother he was going to kill himself and then to have dashed into the alley and severed the veins in both his wrists. He then attempted to cut his throat and succeeded in cutting a gash several inches in length. The cutting of the cords in his wrist however had weakened him to such an extent that he was unable to sever the windpipe, the razor barely reaching it. He then tottered into the rear door of the Grebner cigar factory, where his means attracted the attention of the workmen. He was carried inside and his mother telephoned for a physician. He was removed to the La Crosse hospital in an unconscious state. The cause of the attempted suicide is unknown but it is rumored that family troubles were instrumental in causing the attempt.

CITY TO IMPROVE LACRESCENT ROAD

Council Appropriates $5,000 and Will Vote More if Necessary; One Alderman Objects

SEWER SYSTEM IS CHANGED

Original Plans Are Adopted; Will Not "Dock" Police; to Provide Outlet for Rubber Mills

A resolution to appropriate $5,000 for the improvement of the La Crescent road was carried by a vote of twenty to one at the meeting of the common council last night, with the understanding that if this proved insufficient, further appropriations would be made as soon as plans, specifications and estimates have been made by the board of public works. The council as a whole favored the improvement but differed as to amounts of appropriations and means of raising funds to carry on the work.

Resolutions to reconsider and adopt the original plans and specifications of the proposed sewer system and to continue the present system of police pay were adopted, as was a resolution to take immediate steps for the improvement of Calcedonia, Hagar and St. Andrew streets so as to furnish an outlet for the La Crosse Rubber Mills. The meeting, dragged out by prolonged discussion, was brought to a close without serious opposition on any project.

La Crescent Road Improvement

The original resolution on the improvement of the La Crescent road was introduced provided for an appropriation of $2,000 for the improvement of that part of the road lying between the west end of the La Crosse wagon bridge and West channel. Alderman Joseph Barti declared that the appropriation should be enlarged and Alderman Adam Kroner seconded the motion. As an amendment Alderman P. W. Mahoney offered a substitute by which the board of public works would be instructed to advertise for bids for crushed rock and stone to carry on the work and that necessary funds be transferred from any available fund. Alderman F. J. Roth spoke in favor of the amendment and Alderman William Torrance made a second.

A clause of the original resolution providing that all bridge toll collected after January 1, 1913, be converted to the improvement and upkeep of the road was later withdrawn and a new resolution drafted by which the $5,000 appropriation from the surplus of the sinking fund was made and the board of public works instructed to provide plans and specifications which will be submitted at a special meeting to be held next week. The resolution which was adopted included the entire road and eliminated the clause restricting the improvement to the east side of West Channel. Alderman Torrance said that there are several gravel pits in that vicinity from which material will be easily available and that the cost of improvement had ought to be greatly reduced by this means.

Change Sewer System

The committee on sewers recommended that the action taken at a recent meeting of the city council, by which a large portion of the proposed sewer system on the North side was eliminated, at request of property owners with frontage on the several of the streets in question, be reconsidered. This was adopted. Alderman Mahoney introduced a resolution to eliminate sewers on Hagar, Avon and Berlin streets, the sewers which had formerly been eliminated. This was killed by a vote of four to seventeen.

Alderman Roellig asserted that as the people on Denton street had been forced to put in sewers although they objected, it would be unfair to the tax payers and citizens at large to eliminate any of the North side system. A resolution approving of the original plans and specifications of the proposed North side system was adopted by a vote of sixteen to five and this was followed by the adoption of a resolution for the installation of sewers on Farnam and Mormon Coulee road.

Would "Dock" Police

A near-fight was precipitated following the report of the committee on police and finance, opposing the conversion of police salary, during last time, to the pension fund. Alderman Schultz and Torrance spoke in favor of deducting from the salaries of the police for all time lost for sickness or any other cause and converting this to the police pension

MORE HONORS TO AMERICAN TEAM

United States Athletes Take Two Places in 400 Meter Race and First in 3,000 Meter

ARE SORE AT THE OFFICIALS

Dissatisfaction Expressed by Team Over Treatment of Young in Heat of 400 Meter Run

STOCKHOLM, July 13.—Confident that they can beat all other men in the Marathon, the great event of the present Olympic meeting which will be run tomorrow, the American entrants and managers admitted today they could probably not hold Kolehmainen, the wonderful Finnish distance runner. Any accident to this great athlete, the Americans agreed, would probably be followed by an American triumph in the classic. However, there is nothing but admiration felt for him in the American camp, and if he is first home, he will be cheered by no one more warmly than the representatives of the Stars and Stripes. Johnny Hayes winner of the London Marathon and in charge today of the American who will start in tomorrow's heart-breaking task, said this afternoon that he was hopeful of the outcome. His men have done nothing but rest and take limbering up walks since Wednesday and are in the pink of condition. But Hayes admitted that he expected the great Finn would be the winner of the event.

The big feature of today's card, the classic 400 meter dash, was a real race from the pistol crack to tape and result in a magnificent victory for the American, Reidpoth of Syracuse, but he had to hang up a new record to defeat Hans Braun, the best sprinter on the continent.

There was interest today in the Decathlon, the all-around event which started with a 100 meter dash. It includes this run, a running broad jump, putting the weight, best hand, a running high jump, a 400 meter flat race, a 110 meter hurdle race, throwing the discus, a pole vault, throwing the javelin and a 1,500 meter flat race. The 100 meter sprint was contested by 29 athletes. Of the Americans James Thorpe of Carlisle, Eugene L. Mercer, University of Pennsylvania and Harry S. Babcock of Columbia, won their heats; James J. Donoghue of Los Angeles, got a second, and George W. Philbrook, Notre Dame, landed a third. L. F. Lukeman of Canada, won his heat.

Sore at Officials

Interest in the finals of the 400 meter race and the team race at 3,000 meters, the finals of which were to be run today, were overshadowed by the outlook of the Marathon tomorrow and the action of the judges in disqualifying Donald B. Young, in his heat in the 400 meters yesterday. While the American officials insist that there was no cause of the action of the judges, and that Hans Braun, who benefitted, was really to blame, no formal protest will be filed. The American managers believed they had enough men in the finals to smother Braun anyhow, and did not want to add to the feeling already against the team in the German and British camps.

When the games were resumed today the Americans were leading with a total in the track and field events of 61 points as compared with 51 for all of the other teams combined. It was generally accepted that the American total would be increased, although there was a feeling that the British team would have to be reckoned in with the run-off of the 3,000 meter team races. John Paul Jones, the great Cornell runner, who was expected to prove a tower of strength to the Yankees, is out of the game. The doctors told him yesterday that if he did not let up for a brief period he will break down, and he was reluctantly forced to follow their advice.

Marathon Problem

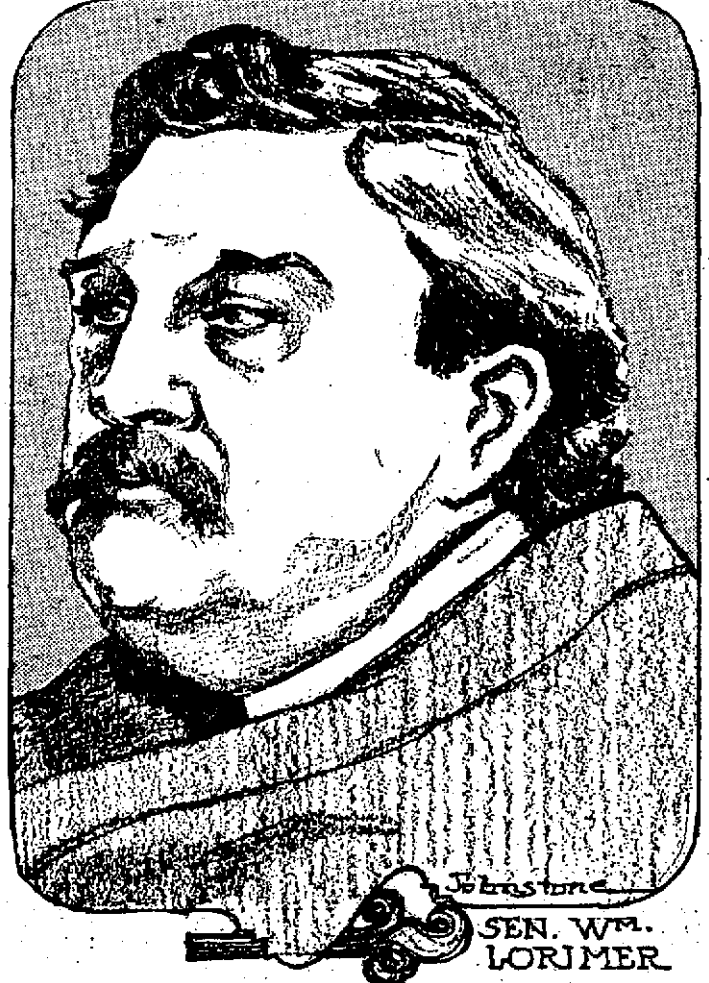

So far as the Marathon is concerned their only hope is the grit of the American athletes. They realize that their best men have failed to show anything like the form of some of the other entrants and have no hesitancy in declaring that if an American runner should win, he will do so by sheer grit alone.

The first event was the preliminaries in the standing high jump in which Platt and Ben Adams of the New York Athletic club; Leo Goring, Mohawk A. C.; R. L. Byrd, Adrian college; Tyler of England and Tschlitiras of Greece, qualified for

2,000 TO ATTEND INSURGENT MEET

Convention of Insurgent Woodmen to Be Held Here to Oppose the Raise of Rates

DEMAND REFERENDUM VOTE

Woodmen Favor Vote of Members on Increase; Will Ask Office Holders to Go on Record

Over 2,000 Woodmen will attend the convention of the Modern Woodmen of America Assembly of the southern district of Wisconsin to be held in this city August 21 and 22 according to members of the insurgent faction of the local camp today. It is estimated that fully 700 members from other counties in Wisconsin will attend and that 1,300 La Crosse county Woodmen will be present at the convention. The convention will be held in the old Y. M. C. A. building.

The call for the convention was issued by John L. Sundean, Minneapolis, national insurgent worker yesterday. A similar convention will be held for the eastern district of Wisconsin in Milwaukee a few days later, which Woodmen predict will be the largest attended convention ever held in Wisconsin. The announcement of the conventions was made at the meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America held here last night.

Want Referendum

A resolution, providing for a petition from the local camp to the head officers of the Woodmen asking for a referendum vote on advance of rates was carried by a vote of 82 to 2 at last night's meeting. This question has been bitterly fought not only in the La Crosse camps but in nearly every city in the United States. The La Crosse insurgent faction have been working for the last month in an effort to pass this resolution, which practically puts the local camp on record as opposing the advance of the rates.

Committees will be appointed at a meeting to be held soon to take charge of all the details in connection with the convention. Discussion on arrangements took place at last night's meeting but with the exception of instructing the officers to procure the old Y. M. C. A. hall, no definite action was taken.

Must Go on Record

The chief project of the convention will be to pass resolutions demanding that all public officials, of (Continued on Page Six.)

CULLOM TURNS HIM DOWN

Aged Colleague from Illinois Who Voted for Him Before Turns Against Him

When Result of Vote Is Announced Ousted Solon Turns Without Word and Stalks Out

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The senators voting to oust Lorimer were: Ashurst, Bacon, Borah, Bourne, Briggs, Brewster, Brown, Bryan, Burton, Chamberlain, Clapp, Clarke of Arkansas, Cawford, Cullom, Cummins, Curtis, Dixon, Fall, Gardner, Gore, Grannan, Hitchcock, Johnson, Keay, Kern, La Follette, Lea, Lodge, Martin, McPherson, Myers, Nelson, Newlands, O'Gorman, Overman, Page, Poinder, Pomeroy, Rayner, Reed, Root, Sanders, Shively, Simons, Smith of Arizona, Smith of Georgia, Smith of Michigan, Smith of South Carolina, Stone, Sutherland, Swanson, Townsend, Watson, Williams, Works. Those voting for Lorimer were: Bailey, Bradley, Brandegee, Burnham, Catron, Clark of Wyoming, Crane, Dillingham, Fletcher, Foster, Gallinger, Gamble, Guggenheim, Johnston, Jones, Lippitt, McCumber, Oliver, Paynter, Penrose, Perkins, Richardson, Smith of Maryland, Smoot, Stephenson, Thornton, Tillman, Wetmore.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Senator William Lorimer of Illinois, was expelled from the senate this afternoon by a vote of 55 to 28. By that overwhelming verdict, his colleagues found him guilty of having been elected on May 24, 1909, by "corrupt methods and practices."

With Lorimer's dramatic assertion that his expulsion would be "the crime of the senate," his colleagues voted nearly two to one to oust him as a beneficiary of fraud.

Cullom Votes Against Him Lorimer did not vote on his own case. But his aged colleague, Senator Cullom of Illinois, turned against him, after having formerly voted to keep him in the senate.

With a smile on his face Lorimer instantly arose from his seat and, with a swinging gait, walked toward the republican cloak room. As he reached the door, Sen. Smoot grasped his hand and some friends from the house joined him.

Senators Dillingham, Jones and others who voted for Lorimer, joined him in the cloakroom and bade him good-bye.

Three senators were absent. Several were "paired" and could not vote. Senator Culberson of Texas originally voted to oust Lorimer, and then, being paired with Dupont of Delaware, who was absent, withdrew his vote.

Spoke Three Days

Lorimer's ejection followed a three days' speech by the senator, dramatic and replete with invective for his opponents. Beginning Thursday Lorimer had spoken in all eleven hours and a half, when he relinquished the floor at 1:40 this afternoon.

Lorimer's fight for his official life which ended this afternoon, when the senate doors closed behind his bulky figure, began almost immediately after his election.

On March 1, 1911, the senate voted to keep him in his seat, absolving him of misconduct. Further exposures resulted in a renewed probe, which culminated in his expulsion. Lorimer's final summing up was dramatic. Fired with bitterness against his enemies, the Illinoisan turned a flood of invective toward his senatorial opponents. Standing in the center aisle, he shocks his fist and defied them to pickflaws in his explanation of evidence collected against him.

LAUNCH WARFARE AGAINST DISEASE

Wisconsin to Participate in Great International Health Congress

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Wisconsin Committee, held in Milwaukee today, plans were perfected for the participation of this state in the International Congress on Hygiene, to be held in Washington in September.

"It is expected," according to the secretary, Dr. T. L. Harrington, of Milwaukee, "that this congress will have a tremendous influence in improving the health conditions under which we live, and in directly reducing the number of deaths and cases of preventable illness. When the International Congress on Tuberculosis was held in 1908, nothing had been done up to that time in combating consumption in Wisconsin. The splendid accomplishments that have come about directly in fighting the White Plague, will undoubtedly be duplicated in the other preventable diseases which include typhoid, pneumonia, the contagious diseases of childhood, diarrhoeal diseases of infancy, etc."

Amongst the Wisconsin agencies which will participate in the Congress, are the State Board of Health, the Dairy and Food Commission, the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, the State Industrial Commission and various other organizations.

The committee, which consists of Drs. C. A. Harper, Madison, T. L. Harrington of Milwaukee, Hugo Reich of Sheboygan, Mrs. Julian Kurtz of Milwaukee and Mr. J. D. Beck of Madison, is securing information upon the exact amount of space which will be made available for the Wisconsin exhibit.

The committee will attempt to make the exhibit indicate what is being done and is under way for the control of preventable disease and the reduction of industrial accidents.

TEACHERS' WAGES PLACED TOO LOW

Average of Instructors in Public Schools Is Less Than $500 Per Year

Both the bright and the dark sides of the American educational system are discussed by Dr. P. P. Claxton, the United States commissioner of education, in his annual review of educational conditions, soon to be issued for free distribution by the United States bureau of education.

Dr. Claxton notes that the average number of days attended by each child enrolled in the public schools increased in the first decade of this century by almost 14 per cent. Nevertheless, he points out the average daily attendance of these children is still only 113 days in the year, or less than 5 1/2 months. Assuming that this rate of attendance shall continue through the 13 school years (5 to 18) the average amount of schooling received by each child of the school population will be only 1,046 days or a little more than five years of ten school months each.

Salaries Increase
The average monthly salary for male teachers has increased about 38 per cent in the decade under discussion, while female teachers are getting 27 per cent more than in 1900. At the same time the average wage for public school teachers all over the country, including teachers in the wealthy cities and in the high schools, is less than $500, about $3 a day for the actual number of days taught, about $1.60 a day for the actual working days of the year. In this connection, Dr. Claxton says that it should be remembered that teachers are expected to give their entire time either to the actual work in the schoolroom, to school work, or to preparing themselves, in summer schools and elsewhere, for better service.

Clearly there must be a large increase in the salaries of teachers before we may expect the efficient service which is desirable.

Wage Too Low

In some states the wage scale for teachers falls far below the country-wide average. Thus, Dr. Claxton observes: "In eleven states the average annual salary for teachers is less than $400; in eight it is less than $300; in two, less than $250. For salaries like this it is clearly impossible to hire the services of men and women of good native ability, and sufficient scholarship, training and experience to enable them to do satisfactory work." Moreover, "a very large per cent of the teachers are men and women less than 21 years old. In the country at large less than one-half have had adequate preparation for their work. In some states less than 25 per cent have had the full preparation given by normal schools and in most of the states less than 10 per cent of the teachers in the country schools have had such preparation. Few continue to teach long enough to gain wisdom and skill from experience. In several states from 20 to 30 per cent of the teachers every year are beginners. In a few states the average length of service is less than four years of six months each."

Income Too Low

Continuing his review Dr. Claxton shows that the value of all public school property increased more than seventy-five per cent in the first ten years of this century, but that even now it amounts to less than $40 for each child of school age. Similarly, although the income of public schools has increased more than 82 per cent in this period, still even now it is very low in many commonwealths. Thus the expenditure for public education is less than $5 per capita in 25 states and less than $2.50 per capita in ten states.

Dr. Claxton also remarks that the number of public high schools in this country for the period 1900-1910 increased more than 70 per cent, and that the number of high school pupils jumped more than 76 per cent. However, there is still much room for improvement. Says Dr. Claxton: "The United States bureau of education has no reliable statistics on the subject, but it is quite probable that less than half the children of the country finish well more than the first six grades, only about one-fourth of the children ever enter high school, less than eight in every 100 do the full four years of high school work. Fewer than five in 100 receive any education above the high school."

Colleges Show Increase

As for the colleges and institutions of like grade, their productive endowment increased 65 per cent, their incomes, exclusive of additions to endowments, increased 173 per cent, their faculties grew 61 per cent, and their student bodies 67 per cent. Here also, Dr. Claxton says that much remains to be done. "Of the four or five millions of young men and women of college age in the country, only about two hundred thousand are doing college work in standard institutions. Less than two per cent do the full four years' work and take a degree. The best interests

I don't care to die just yet, Nor to see the river Styx, But if I thought Charon knew Any pompous posing tricks That conductors have don't know, Cheerfully this flesh I'd doff, And with joy take passage there Just to see him show them off!

That Held Him. Owen Johnson says that the best example of repartee he has ever heard came from a New Haven book agent who still, as in Johnson's day at Yale, is called John Drew by the students because of his society manner. Johnson was a freshman then, living in Pierson Hall. The book dealer knocked, entered, looked suavely about and remarked: "Ah, I see some new faces this year."

A would-be wit of Johnson's class responded: "Why, yes, we change them every year."

Instantly the book agent replies, still more suavely: "Ah, I trust that you will get a better face next year, young sir!"

A Modern Instance. Murray Wheeler, vice consul for Russia at Mobile, said at a bountiful luncheon, apropos of Independence day:

"It is a sad but inspiring thing to think of that zellerbinger who, ringing out the tidings of American freedom, died for joy."

But a young English "remittance man" sneered at this remark and said: "Have you ever known any one to be actually killed by joy?"

Mr. Wheeler smiled at the Briton and retorted: "Well, I did know a beautiful Yankee heiress once who was found lying across the coffin of her husband, old Lord Laclauds."

A True Spartan. "It's easy enough to show Spartan composure on other people's behalf," said, in a Fourth of July address, Mayor Tideman of Savannah.

"You've heard, perhaps of the two Hessian soldiers under Cornwallis during the revolution. These men were acting as scouts in a swampy forest. They got separated, and, an hour later, one came upon the other up to his chin in a bog of quicksand."

"Ach, Hans, Hans, how am I to get out of this?" the poor fellow shrieked, in fear and anguish.

"I don't think you can get out of it," the other answered, with true Spartan calm.

Power Of The Ad. Prof. Warren M. Beidler of Bethel, Pa., last month declared in an eloquent and witty commencement address that Americans were money mad.

"We're money mad," he reiterated the other day. "Art, inventions, flying—all things are considered by us wholly from the financial point of view."

"I recently heard of a novelist who declared that his novel had failed for lack of artistic skill."

"This amazed and pleased me. An American novelist to talk about art! It was unique. But then I heard the rest of the sentence."

"Yes," the novelist continued bitterly, "the lack of artistic skill on the part of my advertisement writer quite killed the book."

Out of Place. Joseph Pennell, the distinguished etcher and equally distinguished biographer of Whistler, was asked, at a reception at the Penn club in Pennsylvania, why he and his brilliant wife did not go out in society more.

This question Mr. Pennell answered with an anecdote. "A famous author," he said, "attended a dinner party at a very smart house in Grosvenor Square. Through all the chatter and champagne drinking and laughter of this dinner party the author sat silent, in at ease, a kind of sheepish and embarrassed grin spoiling the wonted dignity of his countenance."

"I expected him to be so very amusing," a fashionable beauty complained to the hostess afterwards, "but he never opened his mouth. What on earth was the matter with him?"

"Well, you see," the hostess answered, "he can only talk sense!"—Exchange.

The Moderate Drinker. Mrs. Netty Kibby, conductor of the Sons of Temperance, said in an Independence day address some years ago in Worcester, apropos of moderate drinking:

"The moderate drinker's attitude seems to me most foolish and illogical. Doesn't the moderate drinker say just this:

"As long as I find I can stop, I won't stop; but as soon as I find I can't stop, I will!"

PRESIDENT COMEZ BUSY MAN JUST NOW

Jose Miguel Gomez.

President Jose Miguel Gomez, of Cuba, is a very busy man these days. In fact, he's so busy with this new revolution that he finds little time in which to attend cock fights—a pastime, by the way, which finds great favor with Cuban gentlemen of leisure. Since becoming president, Gomez has had a great deal of trouble with the blacks. The negroes are very fond of holding office, but the president has not shown as much deference toward that race in making appointments as he has toward the Spanish. This seems to be one of the moving causes of the moving causes of the present rebellion.

The MAN in the BROWN DERBY by WELLS HASTINGS Author of The Professor's Mystery Copyright, 1911, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.

I looked up to find Mrs. Lathrop staring at me across the table. She colored, but kept her eyes bravely upon mine.

"If I was you, Mr. Ellsworth," she said, "I should go a little easy. That doctor deserves a good beating all right now, but it won't help either you or anybody else to kill him."

"Kill him?" I questioned. "Yes," she said, "Isn't that what you were thinking about? You have been sitting there for the last five minutes looking like battle, murder and sudden death."

"I don't wonder the doctor thought you observant, Mrs. Lathrop," I said. "It's all right, though. I'll remember not to kill him, although it will be pretty hard, once I get my hands on him."

"Well, I hope you do give him a good scare."

"You have asked me why I did not take my gloves off, Mrs. Lathrop. I keep them on because people find my hands unpleasant."

Mrs. Lathrop smiled incredulously. "Do just as you like," she said, "but I shouldn't be afraid I should think any such thing, if I were you."

I stripped one glove away, because I had had enough of the subject. To my surprise, her face showed no flicker of astonishment.

"Well, take off the other," she said. "they don't trouble me any. What a queer young man you are! Do you expect a woman of my age to faint because your hands are a little marked? Some folks have stick-out ears, but they don't go around in ear tabs."

I took off my other glove. "When did Mrs. Ellsworth give you the note?" I asked, after another little pause.

"This morning, just before the doctor came back for them. The nurse was looking at her watch and getting a little uneasy, I think; for every now and then she got up and went over to the window to look up the road. It was on one of these window trips she made, and while she had her back turned, that the young lady slid the note into my hand. I was going through the room, when she stopped me with her finger on her lips. I smiled and kept quiet, because, as I say, whether she was right in her mind or not, I liked her. And when I stopped she put one hand up to her hair and drew out that note, which was all rolled up like a pencil. If a gentleman called Mason Ellsworth comes," she said, "will you please give him this?" And to please her I took it and smiled again. She would have told me more, I think; but just then that woman turned from the window and saw us together. In about five minutes the doctor came, and though she tried hard she didn't get another chance to speak to me, and, for that matter, it wasn't barely five minutes before the two of them started with her to the station, which is where you'd better be starting now, Mr. Ellsworth, to be sure and catch your train. There is one in twenty minutes for Philadelphia, and unless they started early just to fool me, it was a train for Philadelphia they took themselves."

"You've been very good to me, Mrs. Lathrop," I said, "and I do not know what I can ever do to repay your kindness both to me and to my wife."

"I do," said Mrs. Lathrop. "You can write to me when you have found her."

XII. The Collar and Tie. For a happy man green fields and country lanes, pastoral sights and the murmurous harmonies of nature lend themselves as a fitting and tender glory to his happiness. Serenities echo back serenities, and the great and happy heart of nature beats in blissful accord with his own. But for a man whose happiness has been disturbed, whose life has been touched by care or sorrow, these accorded sights and sounds of the country are oppressive madness, and the very greatness of their eternal quality plagues and vexes him the more. For the country is never out of tune with itself; its music is one vast elemental chord and has been the same for all time. So the man out of tune with himself and with the world finds the clanging discords of the many-noted city a shock of vigorous relief. Here is not one great melody, but rather the vigorous uproar of a thousand tunes; where the sane country would have driven him mad, the mad city shouts him back to sanity.

My little cross-roads local drew into Philadelphia like a farmer coming to the fair. And as I stepped into the busy turmoil of the station and shouldered my way through the hurrying impersonal crowd, every moral fiber in me took tonic and vigor from the hurly-burly about. A wlee man has called man's relations with his fellow beings "antagonistic co-operation," and the phrase is a miracle of inspiration, for we shrink from the touch or too-intimate glance of those about us in instinctive resentment, and yet no healthy person wishes himself very distant from this human intimacy. Each one of us feels that he seeks his lonely goal alone, yet feels that he has lost his way, unless he moves

If you want to free your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. S. A. Lee, of 110 South 4th St., Richmond, Va., who writes:

"Four years' residence in Indian ruined my hair until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a typical history of hair troubles. After everything else fails Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and prevents falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the claims of others, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Applications at good barber shops.

with the crowd down the same great road. And even to communicate wit those about us the simplest thought is only half told in many words. When all is said and done, love is the only language that ever makes one being comprehensible to another. With Nancy I had been happy for the first time in my life; with Nancy gone, this jostle of humanity awoke in me a militant confidence and a potent belief that I should find mine own.

It was therefore, with almost a feeling of elation that I set about my task, and, as is usual with confidence, my first move was the right one.

"I wonder if you remember," I asked the Pullman agent, "a man in a brown derby hat who came to you this morning, and probably wanted a private compartment to New York; a tall man with sloping shoulders, a large nose and eyes set too near together. He was dressed in a brown suit with narrow stripe, and may or may not have had two ladies with him."

GIRLS HAVE A CLOSE CALL

SPARTA, Wis., July 13.—Four young ladies, the Misses Doris McAuliffe, Sallie Jefferson, Katherine Tyler and Laverne Blackman, met with an accident Tuesday evening, which while it has not resulted as seriously as was at first feared, was still bad enough. The girls were just returning from a week's outing at Spring Bank, and had taken passage in one of the "buses" at the Northwestern depot, when the horses became frightened at something and started to run. The throat latch on the bridge fell off one of the animal's heads, leaving the driver unable to control them. In going around a corner, the rig was overturned, and three of the girls were out considerably by broken glass. The last one, Miss Blackman, jumped out and landed on the hard pavement, rendering her unconscious, in which condition she remained until afternoon of the following day, and is now recovering. The driver escaped with a broken ankle.

Peter Lee, who has been ill for about two weeks at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ora DeWitt, died on Monday afternoon at the age of 87 years. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the DeWitt home, Rev. H. R. Hogan officiating.

Mr. Lee was one of Monroe county's old time citizens, having been one of its best residents for over sixty years, the greater part of which he spent on a farm near Leon. His wife died some twenty-three years ago and left him with their two daughters, Mrs. Ora DeWitt and Mrs. Simon Wells, who survive him.

The remains of Mrs. Esther E. McIntyre were brought to Sparta Tuesday from Minneapolis, where she died the previous day at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Hamley. Funeral services were held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mrs. McIntyre was an old time resident of this county, with her family having been residents of Leon for many years, afterward moving to Watertown, then to Sparta. Her husband, who was an active business man, lost his health and died about five years ago.

Frank Rhyme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rhyme, has been here from his Madella home for a few days, looking out for a farm. He finally bought the Carl Pierce farm in West Beaver Creek.

L. T. Hill is having a new porch erected on the east side of his beautiful home on Franklin street. It is to be something larger than the ordinary, and made in the modern up-to-date style.

Elvin Graf returned home Tuesday. He has been taking charge of the Pickwick Clothes Shop during the absence of the manager.

2 KILLED WHEN CAR TAKES FIRE

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 13.—Two women were killed and three others are believed to be dying as a result of a panic on a burning street car here today. When the car took fire the motorman refused to release the gates. The passengers were thus held in the car, and becoming panic-stricken, began jumping from the windows. Two of the women were crushed to death and the three others seriously injured.

HITTING THE RAGTIME DANCE

In attempting to eliminate the suggestive ragtime dance, which is far too popular at this time, the International Association of Dancing Masters has taken a rather large job on its hands.

It requires daring to crusade against the "grizzly bear," the "turkey trot," the "bunny hug" and all other syncopated hugs that pass for dances, but with perseverance the fight may be won.

It is the dancing masters' opinion that ragtime music is responsible for ragtime dances, and if the charge is true it constitutes another indictment against the degeneracy of melody. They are anxious to persuade the public that the dignified waltz and the stately minuet and more picturesque dances of other days are to be preferred to the pervasions which they are combating.

They may be assisted by that good sense of the public which should cause it to tire of that which owes its vogue only to its novelty and "spice."

It is supposed to be "naughty" to indulge in these dancing frivolities, and most of those who do so want to be thought up-to-date rather than to offend against good morals.

There are many signs that the objectionable dances are automatically losing their hold upon the public though it must be admitted that it is a pretty hard matter to cause the "bear cat" and "Texas Tommy" and "Boston Dip" to lose their "hold".

So long as it is regarded as merely "daring" to dance them, there will always be plenty of people to insist upon them.

As soon as it becomes "unfashionable" or behind the times, the fad will quickly disappear, though it will still be a problem whether the ragtime dance will not recur in other forms.

HIS OWN CASE AN OBJECT LESSON

"When the idea of direct primary elections was discussed in this state, Democrats found themselves in full accord with so much of the experiment as proposed that before candidates for public office should be entitled to a place on the official ballot, their preference should receive the indorsement and approval of the electors of their party at a primary called for that purpose.

There was, however, in the primary election plan as presented in Wisconsin, another, and to many of us, a less worthy purpose. The non-essential part was screened behind that portion of the act which being designed to safeguard the citizen in the free selection of his candidate for office, was democratic in substance and in essence. This other feature of the act was aimed at just such gatherings as this is, at the primary representative government of parties, and particularly at the organization of our own historic Democratic party, and with the right of free assemblage for which it has stood unflinchingly through all the years of its history."

Foregoing is a paragraph from the speech of Mr. Kearney, permanent chairman of the democratic state convention held at Milwaukee this week.

It must have been rather amusing to the reflective to have sat with Mr. Kearney in a "free assembly" the right to hold which he was declaring had been denied. His might have been the words of a man participating in an outlawed gathering caged in some hidden dungeon, and those about him might have expected to hear the stealthy tread of gendarmes, and to hear the order for dispersement.

But that which still more positively stamped Mr. Kearney's speech as inconsistent was the fact that the convention of which he was made chairman had been formed by delegates elected in caucuses of which so many had been packed that a majority in the convention were able to give preference to a candidate to whom Mr. Kearney and a great majority of democrats are opposed.

And what was Mr. Kearney's remedy against the miscarriage of justice in this free assembly? It was to appeal his case from this free assemblage which he endorses to the primary election which he condemns.

PROVES TYPHOID IS PREVENTABLE

When an army of 12,000 men was recently hurried under a summer sun to the Mexican border with but one resulting case of typhoid fever, the value of typhoid vaccine was at once and forever established.

Sanitation and the elimination of flies would greatly reduce the number of typhoid cases, but while horses are kept in cities flies will be hatched out. Safety against the dread disease lies in vaccination only. It involves no risk—a slight fever for 24 hours and an aching arm, all of which soon passes away.

This preventive may not be good for a life term, but the best physicians say its effects are as lasting as its vaccination against smallpox.

The world would be ideal did its inhabitants but live up to sanitary rules. There would be no flies and no filth anywhere. Such a change may come in the course of a century or two, and in the meantime typhoid vaccination should be welcomed and utilized as the best possible remedy in sight against typhoid.

It appears to be a safe and sane way to prevent one of the worst diseases that menace mankind.

HOW IT WORKS OUT IN THE LONG RUN

John Harrington, an employee of the state tax commission, in answer to Mr. Bolens' assant on the income tax, said:

"In Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties less than 500 farmers will pay income tax this year. On the other hand, one of the large corporations of the state, which has practically no property here, will pay the highest rate, 6 per cent, on nearly $1,000,000 of profits. When the farmers of the state are made acquainted with these facts the tax is going to increase in popularity. I work in the tax commissioner's department, and know what I am talking about."

That is but an example. Every city in the state has its parallel. Both republican and democratic parties in Wisconsin have repeatedly endorsed the income tax. It is now on trial but it has not been tried, its advocates can hardly refuse to give it its day in court.

It has been figured that the convention crowd led $2,000,000 in Chicago. This, of course, is exclusive of the five-cent tip that the Kentucky delegate gave a Congress hotel bell-boy for bringing him 11 pitchers of ice water.

If the big politicians would give less attention to playing the game and more to bringing about the prosperity of the country, it wouldn't make any difference to the rank and file who was president.

The government will provide the navy with a corps of dentists. Naturally no one can secure an appointment who hasn't a strong pull.

The house and senate are going to investigate the banana trust. Here's hoping they don't slip.

So far, few comets have been discovered for a presidential year.

A cheerful sinner is more entertaining than a melancholy saint.

"YOU GOTTA QUIT KICKIN' MY COW AROUND," CRY THOSE GEORGIA FARMERS

War, civil war, impends in certain sections of the erstwhile peaceful southland. The battles of the opposing forces reverberate in the quiet Georgia hills, to the great annoyance of automobilists and people in the towns generally. Many Georgia towns have passed ordinances aimed to keep cows off the street, and it looks as if the practice would soon be abolished entirely. Cow owners, however, are strenuously objecting to the new order.

RAILROAD MEN LONG IN SERVICE

Eastern Road Has 2,040 Employees Who Have Served Over 40 Years

MANY MORE THAN 50 YEARS

489 Men Have Been on the Payroll for Half Century, One for Sixty-five Years

With 2,040 active employees who have been in service forty years or longer, and with 1,572 men who served forty years or more and are now receiving pensions, the Pennsylvania Railroad has a payroll which is probably unique among those of the corporations of this country.

No less remarkable is the fact that the Pennsylvania's records show that today there are upon its payroll 489 men who have been in its service more than fifty years. One employee has been receiving pay from the Pennsylvania for sixty-six years.

Beat Risk Records.
In making public the above figures the Pennsylvania does not say its employees are blessed with longevity, but it indicates such by the following statistics which show that it has in active service 4,717 employees who are between the ages of sixty and seventy years—Pennsylvania employees retire at seventy. A striking comparison exists between the Pennsylvania records and the Carlisle table of mortality used by insurance companies. While the latter shows the expectancy of a man twenty-one years of age to be 40.75 years, the Pennsylvania Railroad has 4,015 employees who have exceeded this.

There are living today eight Pennsylvania Railroad employees who are over ninety years of age. All of them are, of course, receiving their regular pension payments from the company.

The oldest employee is Andrew Abels, who was born May 23, 1817, and is, therefore, ninety-five years of age. He lives in Philadelphia where, prior to retirement, he was employed by the railroad as clerk.

The following are the other non-agenerians on the payroll of the Pennsylvania Railroad:

Michael Eckertine, of Altoona, Pa., born January 13, 1820. He was employed as a laborer in the Altoona shops by the Pennsylvania Railroad on February 1, 1854.

James Taylor, of Altoona, Pa., born October 4, 1820. Until his retirement he was employed as a blacksmith in the Altoona shops, where he had worked since 1852.

Elias Griffith, of Altoona, Pa., born October 25, 1820. He served as watchman at the Altoona shops from February 8, 1866 to January 1, 1900, when the railroad's pension system became operative.

James L. Shields, of Blairsville, Pa., born January 11, 1821. He entered the service of the railroad May 1, 1854. In 1871 he was made foreman of masons on the Western Pennsylvania Division.

David L. Graeff, of Columbia, Pa., born February 18, 1821. He was a machinist on the Philadelphia Division, having been employed in June 1872.

Thomas C. Payne, of Belvidere, N. J., born November 4, 1821. He served as a laborer on the Belvidere Division from April 1, 1855 to the date of his retirement.

Longest On Roll.
Charles A. Jefferies, of Lancaster, Pa., enjoys the distinction of having been on the payroll of the Pennsylvania Railroad longer than any other employee. He was born October 8, 1822, and in July, 1846 was employed by the Columbia and Philadelphia Railroad as a fireman. He was made engineer in 1849, and in 1883 his occupation was changed to signal repairman.

The Pennsylvania Railroad trains its officers from the rank and file. Young men just out of school or college begin their work for the company by learning the very rudiments of railroading; and there are many years of hard work before they even show their heads above their fellows, or their superiors learn whether they are fitted for promotion.

A census recently made of Pennsylvania Railroad officers gives striking evidence of the policy the company pursues in training men. Of 178 officers included in the railroad's official biographical list, 171, or 96 per cent, have been with the company all of their business life. Of the 178, those who received a college education number 84, or approximately 50 per cent. The seven cases where officers have not been in the service of the railroad the entire time since leaving school include such as required special training, which the railroad did not offer.

A Fighting Fish.
The pla-kat, or Betta pugnax, is a Malayan fighting fish, specimens of which the natives of Siam pit against each other like gamecocks. These fish are, indeed, veritable aquatic gamecocks and are reared for the sole purpose of fighting. These fights draw large throngs of spectators and considerable coin is wagered.—Popular Mechanics.

He Explains.
She—"What do you mean by saying that Elia is more or less pretty?" He—"Well, she's more pretty than most girls and less pretty than you."—Simplicissimus.

He Cannot Be Found.
"I have known many cautious and persevering men," said the Office Cynic, "but I have never known one who was so cautious and persevering that he took the time to read all the fine print in a lease."

DIFFICULTY SHOWS NEED OF MEASURE

Henry Says Disability to Discover Amount of Campaign Funds Means Bad Conditions

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Conceding that the senate investigating committee's inability to obtain any detailed expenditures of presidential campaign funds emphasized the necessity for a law requiring publicity before the elections of such information, Representative Robert L. Henry of Texas, in an interview today, urged the necessity for the senate passing his bill to this end.

"The senate committee's inability to get authentic information concerning use of campaign funds in the Parker-Roosevelt campaign shows the necessity for such a law as I have proposed," Henry declared. "I am not surprised that witnesses cannot recall details of money expenditures in that campaign. There was no necessity for them keeping accurate accounts."

"The candidates for president and vice president owe it to the people to make an itemized detailed statement, which shall be sworn to of all contributions and expenditures used in their campaign for the purpose of influencing their elections. And such statements should be made public before the election. The bill which I have introduced and which passed the house, makes publication of detailed reports compulsory by imposing a fine of $1,000; imprisonment of not more than one year, or both, upon all violators. The bill is now pending in the senate."

"Senators and representatives, under the law passed last year, must render an accounting of their financial expenditures. It seems to be that it is vastly more important that such a law should govern presidential and vice presidential candidates."

THREE KILLED IN CITIES BY STORM

Minneapolis and St. Paul Struck by 84 Mile Wind Which Does $100,000 Damage

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 13.—Three persons are dead and thirteen injured and a property damage estimated at $100,000 are results of one of the worst storms in the history of the weather bureau here last night. The storm was confined almost entirely to Hennepin and Ramsey counties (Minneapolis and St. Paul), although adjoining counties report heavy rains. The dead:

Ralph C. Gillette, 30, Minneapolis, eldest son of L. S. Gillette of the Minneapolis Steel and Machinery company, was instantly killed by lightning at the Interlachen Golf links.

Mrs. Alma Freyer, 22, and Mary Bergman, 5, St. Paul, caught in the ruins of a collapsed barn.

The maximum velocity of the wind in Minneapolis was 84 miles an hour. During five minutes the precipitation was 5 inch.

The damage principally to small buildings, barns, shade trees, telegraph and telephone wires and poles, etc.

At Lake Forest forty members of the National guard in encampment there were shocked by lightning, four being rendered unconscious but not seriously hurt.

Tennyson's Forty-Year Old Boots.
Tennyson possessed a pair of boots well nigh as long lived as those of the old farmer described by Richard Jeffries. William Allingham notes in his diary on March 2, 1881, that "Browning dined at Tennyson's last night. Tennyson was in great form. He said: 'This pair of dress boots is 40 years old.' We looked at them, and I said it was good evidence of the immortality of the sole."—Lebanon Chronicle.

"I have known many cautious and persevering men," said the Office Cynic, "but I have never known one who was so cautious and persevering that he took the time to read all the fine print in a lease."

C.M. & ST. P. TRACK ONLY ONE INTACT

Ohama, Northwestern, and Burlington Trains Use Line of Milwaukee Today

Washouts on the C. B. & Q. and the Omaha railroads caused the transferring of their trains to the C. M. & St. P. road last night and early this morning. All their passenger trains ran on the Milwaukee tracks. All freight trains were discontinued for the day and all freight conductors were put on passenger trains and piloted them through the city.

Near Travina.
The washout on the C. B. & Q. road, caused by the heavy rainfall of last evening, occurred a short distance this side of Travina, Wis.

A washout on the Omaha railroad between Marrillon Junction and Camp Douglas put that stretch of the road out of commission, with the result that trains on that line were also transferred to the C. M. & St. P. tracks. The washouts could not be repaired sufficiently to allow trains to run on those tracks until about noon today. All trains were running on their own tracks after noon.

Some of the finest trains running on the C. M. & St. P., the C. B. & Q., and the Omaha and going to all points passed through La Crosse, coast trains and others being among those which came here. One train followed another until trains were passing here almost constantly, the double tracks aiding in the transportation, as the trains were run in one direction on one track and returned on the other.

TO ASSAIL WITNESS

COUNSEL FOR MRS. MORROW TO CONCENTRATE ATTACK ON STORY OF FORMER BOARDER IN HOME

CHICAGO, July 13.—Attorney Charles Erbstein, counsel for Mrs. Rene B. Morrow, south side society and club woman, who is on trial for the murder of her husband, today was preparing his attack on Harry Gilmore, former boarder in the Morrow home and chief witness for the state. Gilmore, on the stand at the preliminary hearing, declared he had been intimate with Mrs. Morrow, she coming to his room on several occasions.

The climax of the first day's session of the trial came late yesterday afternoon, when the state introduced as evidence the blood stained, bullet torn clothing of the dead inventor. Up to that time Mrs. Morrow had been calm, but when Assistant State's Attorney Northrup introduced the clothing and laid the garments together with the revolver that killed Morrow on the table before her she broke down and cried.

Her Advantage.

The woman over fifty, if she's not a fool, has one pull over all men and younger women—she understands people, which the opposite sex never do, and no woman does, till she's old enough to understand herself.

TORTOISE PILOTS SHIPS IN STRAITS

A feature of special interest at the La Crosse theater last evening in the trip through the Strait of New Zealand, is the pilot, who almost every day for the past twenty years has piloted every vessel through the passage in low water, which is not only dangerous but most impossible to pass through. An old tortoise of great size has taken this responsibility upon himself for all those years, swimming just ahead of every vessel, unerring in his intention of seeing the boats safely through. Several years ago an Englishman thought it a joke to fire a rifle at this benefactor, wounding but not seriously injuring him, but for three months the mariners' friend failed to show up and his absence

If Col. Roosevelt can show that he is a winner, he can count on the support of governors and senators who are now perched on the fence, undecided what to do. If he fails to develop strength, they will abide safely within the Republican party. Hadley and Deneen are supposed to be against the third party plan, but they have recently shown signs of sticking around to see what will happen. Gov. Stubbs is for Roosevelt, all right, but he hopes the Republican party of Kansas can be turned to T. R.'s support, so that no third party will be necessary in his state.

SAYS RELIGION IS SECOND TO CASH

Head of Marquette University Declares American Education Is Too Much for Wealth

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—What Christ says does not count with Americans as much as what John D. Rockefeller and Pierpont Morgan say. Ask the average American boy of today why God made him, and he will answer you, "To make money." There are many boys who do not know who God is. We have lost souls as a nation the ability to see souls. We see gold instead. We are striving for things we cannot reach. Our youths have wrong notions in their heads; scholars grow fewer but money making machines increase. The cry that every heart seems to hear is "Look out for yourself, make money."

Rev. Joseph A. Murphy, vice president of Marquette university, brought into play these statements in a bitter arraignment of the present educational system before a large audience in Gesu auditorium last night. Summing up the "standard of the American youth today," Dr. Murphy took issue with the statement of Carroll C. Pearson, president of the National Education association, who in a speech to the delegates in Chicago, said the school is taking the place of the home. The standard of the American youth today is to make money, he said. "One of the greatest dangers to this country is the absence of religious education in American public schools. The nation has and is more so with our present educational system, resolving itself into a nation lost in intense adoration of the golden calf."

RICH WIDOW WHO WANTS EASTERN HUSBAND GETS THREE MAIL SACKS OF ANSWERS

CHICAGO, July 13.—Mrs. Clara L. Brown, the rich widow who asked Mayor Gaynor of New York and Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston to find her a male, declaring she could not see the corn fed products of the west, is today busily engaged in sorting the contents of three large mail sacks, proposals of marriage from eligible bachelors, "corn fed" and otherwise.

No one suspected the matronly lady who entered the Congress with her maid of being the owner of the six figure fortune, who had a hankering for a cultured eastern husband. She immediately made herself known however, took her mail and left with the maid in a taxicab.

The maid, very winsome, who is to act as armor against avaricious Chicago barbarians, told the reporters Mrs. Brown was going to New York, but whether she would enter the matrimonial lists in the east, the maid did not know.

They are enroute to Minnetonka, where they will visit Mrs. Derwent's sister, Mrs. Morris, at her cottage.

Snowstorms in July. Early in July there occurred snow storms in certain very warm regions, notably about Mount Etna, which at this time begins to scatter the accumulation of snow which that volcano has conserved during the winter. The crater of Etna is 3,279 meters in height, and during the winter months the snow packs into the crevices of the mountain, to be driven out by the summer winds.

Horse in Warfare. An army officer, writing of the importance of the horse in warfare, says that automobiles have not appreciably lessened the demand for horses or mules in the army. One of these animals, he says, is needed for every man in a properly equipped military force. Immense numbers of horses perish in every war through starvation, it being almost impossible to provide forage for them during the exigencies of a campaign.

Bravery a State of Mind. The Norsemen never feared death. They were as brave on land as on the sea. It was their belief that brave warriors at death would be taken to the land of Valhalla, where they might fight and hunt and feast for ages. They believed that every night wounds received during the day would heal, and they would be ready for fresh adventures in the morning.

A Safe Rule. Tea and coffee should not be given to a child under seven, and the longer the delay the better. A good cocoa is often enjoyed, milk and water and diluted condensed milk may also be given, and, very cautiously, plain soda water. It should never be forgotten that milk is a food and not a drink, and that plenty of water flushes the kidneys. There is no reason why a healthy child should not drink when it feels thirsty.

Busy Day for Spicers. The fancy of the young people of Austria turns to thoughts of matrimony at carnival time, and carnival Sunday—Fasching Sonntag—is usually a busy day for those who tie the matrimonial knot. The records for this year show that on February 18 upward of one thousand and one hundred couples were united in marriage in the various Roman Catholic churches of Vienna.

Evans, chief of the division of military affairs, arrived with Gen. Hoyt. Lieut. Col. Morrison left the camp on orders to report to Honolulu, H. I. The real tryout of the provisional regiment began when each battalion went into the woods with ball ammunition and were sent against silhouettes representing an enemy. About 40,000 rounds of ammunition were expended with excellent results. The two detachments of cavalry are expected to arrive in camp at any time.

GIRL GETS DROP ON WOULD-BE BURGLAR

FOND DU LAC, Wis., July 13.—Clad only in a kimono and armed with an unloaded revolver, Miss Lu Thomas, an invalid girl, put to flight a tramp who had entered the house intending to commit robbery on Thursday. Miss Thomas, who was alone at the time, saw the tramp approach. She ran into another room and got the revolver which she drew on the invader, who called in a pleading voice, "Please, lady, don't shoot," and backed out of the door.

250,000 LONDONERS STARVE

LONDON, July 13.—The White Cross league, formed to relieve the families of striking transport workers, estimates that 250,000 women and children are starving in London today. Funds are being collected on street corners to aid them.

Thomas' Method. Theodore Thomas was once asked how he managed to impart such vitality and lightness to his orchestra's playing of the Strauss waltzes. His answer was: "Have you ever noticed that I always beat the first stroke of the rhythm up instead of down? You cannot put the life and continuous motion of the dance into a piece of music if you knock the poor tune down at the beginning of every measure."

When you go to visit the sick do not forget that a good laugh is one of the best tonics and a bit of humorous gossip or piquant saying is better than any drugs. Make the invalid smile if you cannot start up a laugh, but make your visit short; remember that too much of a good thing is as bad as too little.

INVESTIGATE DEATH AT INSANE ASYLUM

ST. PETER, Minn., July 13.—Having viewed the body of William A. Helfmann, a jury of pioneer St. Peter citizens is ready to take evidence at a coroner's hearing at the state hospital for the insane, and to judge whether the dead patient met his end through undue violence. The little town of St. Peter is wrought up over the case, and Dr. G. F. Merritt, coroner of Nicollet county, is eager for the finding of the jury. Senator J. L. Schain of Browns Valley, president of the state board of visitors, and J. C. Matchitt, secretary of the board, arrived here, and in addition to attending the hearing, will make a regular semi-annual inspection of the insane hospital on behalf of the board. Senator Schain says he would not be surprised if Governor Eberhart calls on the board to investigate the Helfmann case. "If there is anything irregular here the board wants to know it," said the senator, "and if we are called on to investigate the charges made they will be sifted to the bottom."

GOVERNOR BACKS HOME MILITIA

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 13.—Although D. D. Mayne, principal of the state farm school, denies he threatened to discharge an employee of the school for joining his regiment to take part in the National Guard maneuvers at Lake City, the story of the alleged threat has estranged the relations between the school and the adjutant general. Governor Eberhart also took the side of the adjutant general. In a conversation over the telephone Mr. Mayne attempted to justify his action to Ralph Wheelock, the governor's private secretary. He was given to understand that such procedure would not be tolerated. It is understood that Mr. Mayne will not endeavor to go further because of the row he has precipitated.

SASKATCHEWAN IS FOR RECIPROCITY

REGINA, Sask., July 13.—Returns of the Saskatchewan elections to noon yesterday show that Walter Scott, Liberal, has been returned by an increased majority. The standing shows: Liberals, 35; Conservatives, 10; doubtful, 7. Elections in two constituencies were postponed. Previously, the Liberals had 28 seats and the Conservatives 13, but at this election the seats had been increased from 41 to 54, and the Liberals are proclaiming the result a substantial victory for reciprocity, indicating that the west favors such an arrangement.

RESCUE PARTY FAILS TO FIND MINERS

SHAMOKIN, Pa., July 13.—A rescue party which has been at work since Thursday seeking Wm. Way and Harry Derrick, entombed by a fall of coal in the Burns colliery, managed today to penetrate to the entry where it was thought the men were. No trace of them was found and it is now believed they are perished in one of the cross sections high up on the breast. Despite the imminent danger of further slides, the rescuers continued their efforts to reach the men and were hopeful they might be located by tomorrow.

STATE GOVERNOR ALLEGED GRAFTER

Executive of South Carolina
Accused of Selling
Pardons to Criminals

BURNS DETECTIVES BACK IT

Wm. J. Burns Says Conditions
in Southern State
Are Worse Than in San Francisco

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 13.—Sensational charges of graft were made against Governor Cole L. Bleasde of South Carolina today by Detective Reed of the Burns agency, before the special investigating committee of the South Carolina legislature which is holding its sessions here.

In his two years' term in office, Bleasde has made a record for the number of convicts he has pardoned. The charge was made that in one case at least, Governor Bleasde received $2,000 for his executive clemency. The Bleasde graft probe is the result of a legal fight between the picturesque governor and Thomas B. Felder, a prominent Atlanta lawyer and a well known politician.

Two years ago Felder began issuing statements charging Bleasde with having shared in the dispensary graft and the governor replied with counter charges. For a time the controversy became so bitter that it was feared violence would result should the men ever meet.

Before the committee, Felder renewed his charge that Bleasde as attorney for the dispensary commission, effected a rebating contract with a wholesale liquor house. Felder also assailed Bleasde's honesty as a state senator and accused him of selling pardons as governor. He said Bleasde "fattened upon graft."

William J. Burns, the detective, also testified that Bleasde's official acts have been improper, and said that the San Francisco graft was "insignificant compared with conditions in South Carolina."

fund. Alderman Roeliff, in answer to their assertions, declared that if the police were "docked" for lost time they would have to be paid for overtime.

Alderman F. J. Roth said, "There are two systems in use, one by which a man is 'docked' for lost time and paid for over time and the other by which no reduction is made for lost time and no extra payment for overtime. The city cannot take the part of each system which is the most favorable to them and dock the police for lost time and refuse to pay them for overtime. It is estimated that each patrolman puts in about seventy-five days of overtime during the year and during fair week, circus days or days of celebration, they are forced to work eighteen hours a day."

Several aldermen rallied to the support of the committee report which was finally adopted by a vote of sixteen to five thus continuing the present system.

Much discussion was occasioned by the proposal to defer the improvement of Hagar, Avon and St. Andrew streets until next year. For over three years, the North Side Progressive league has been working in conjunction with the officers of the La Crosse Rubber Mills company in an effort to have these streets put in suitable condition to permit easy access to the mill. Shipments of the company have been greatly handicapped by the poor condition of these streets.

The project of improvement has been introduced several times but has always been deferred. Several of the aldermen declared that in all fairness to the Rubber Mills company, immediate action should be taken. A resolution to carry on the work immediately was carried by a large vote.

To Send Delegation
An amendment providing for a delegation consisting of the mayor, city attorney, city engineer, a member of the board of public works and an alderman to attend the annual convention of state municipalities to be held at Wausau July 23, 24 and 25 was killed as was another amendment providing for a delegation consisting of the mayor and two aldermen. The original resolution, introduced by Alderman Mahoney to send a delegation of five aldermen, the mayor and a member of public works, was adopted.

Alderman John Downes, supported by Alderman Bert Smith, severely criticized pleasure trips of public officials at the expense of the taxpayer and said that no benefit has ever been derived from them. The majority of the aldermen decided against them.

The report of the committee on finance, recommending the closing of a contract with the J. Gordon Steele company of Minneapolis for the auditing of the city's books at a contract price of $500, was adopted despite the fact that a local firm had submitted a bid of $450.

Resolutions were carried as follows: For improvement of fire houses Nos. two and five; for permission to motor boat owners of the North side to install a track at the foot of St. Cloud street to enable them to remove their boats from the water; and for the vacation of certain lots in the city hall which are to be converted to the use of the city sealer.

Seattle Judge Is Alleged to

BAR ENDORSES THE JURIST

Appoint Men Defending
Man Under Fire as Committee

Investigators

SEATTLE, Wash., July 13.—A new line of investigation by the congressional committee was opened today in the Hanford probe, in taking up the Pacific Packing company case, in which Federal Judge C. H. Hanford is accused of having abused his judicial office in allowing James A. Kerr, as receiver, and the firm of Kerr & McCord, as attorneys for the receiver, fees amounting to $140,000. The committee spent some time yesterday preparing to take up this case today.

The bar association last night by a divided vote, adopted a resolution of endorsement of Judge Hanford. At the same time the association ostensibly complied with the request of Chairman Graham of the congressional committee to appoint a committee of lawyers to assist the investigators in getting material evidence.

The bar association appointed the three lawyers who are now defending Hanford as its committee. The meeting was attended by fifteen lawyers, including Richard A. Ballinger and his partner, Alfred Battle.

A session of the committee yesterday afternoon was replete with sensational. A letter written by Judge Hanford was admitted into the record as an exhibit, showing that the judge in 1898 made the general announcement that he would not "appoint any man as United States commissioner unless he knew he was not a supporter of the Chicago platform of 1896, of the democratic party, or any of its candidates."

Representative McCoy asked William H. Gorham, ex-president of the Seattle Bar association, a witness called for the defense, whether that letter expressed proper judicial attitude and Gorham said he would not have written it.

"If the attitude expressed in that letter," said McCoy, "should be followed, then six million American citizens would be disqualified from holding any public office."

Peculiar Cocktail Taste
That Hanford had also a most peculiar taste in cocktails was evidence brought out in the trial which is causing amusement here.

"Give me a Judge Hanford cocktail," is the reason why George A. Jacobs, a real estate man, told the Hanford investigators he would produce the special tipple the jurist favored in at least nine saloons in the city. Jacobs declared the Hanford brand was a "dry Martini, with an onion in it, instead of the usual olive."

In the 3,000 meter team race the United States runners won first honors, defeating the Swedish team with England third.

As was expected the discus throw proved easy for the giant Finlander, A. A. Traipale.

Platt Adams of the New York A. C. won the standing high jump finals at five feet three inches. Benjamin Adams, New York A. C., second; Tsicilitiras of Greece, third.

In the finals of the discus throw, both hands, Traipale of Finland, was first with a throw of 71 feet eight inches; Elkländer of Finland, second; Magnusson, Sweden, third.

council went on record as opposing an ordinance complying with the state law relative to the hours of selling intoxicating liquors. Alderman Marvin introduced the resolution for an ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquors on Sunday which was killed by a vote of nineteen to two.

The following resolutions were referred: To install a whistle at the pumping station to notify citizens of fire and eliminate sprinkling of lawns during fires; the installation of meters on all exterior water taps and the repair of the flat rate for sprinkling purposes; the installation of catch basins at West Avenue and Market streets.

Committee reports on outstanding bills were submitted and approved. Among those approved of was the final payment of $1,000 to Engineer A. T. Maltby.

The committee on the city officials' picnic reported that Dresden park has been selected for the annual outing. The members of the council and other city officials will make the trip on the Steamer Badger Thursday.

27 REPUBLICANS OF UPPER HOUSE VOTE HIM DOWN

Most of the "regulars" in the visitors' seats brought lunches. It was asserted by the anti-Lorimerites when the senate convenes that Lorimer's dramatic appeal would effect no change in the majority which they claimed would vote to unseat the senator on the ground that his election was accomplished by bribery and corruption.

Lorimer's desk was piled high with books and papers. He waited while Senator Smoot caused a round up for a quorum. Senators Kern and Lea of the minority were special

When the Lorimer case was before the senate on March 1, 1911, he was cleared by a vote of 46 to 40.

Senators who voted against Lorimer on that occasion, and are still members of the senate are: Bacon, Borah, Bristow, Brown, Burton, Chamberlain, Clapp, Clarke of Arkansas, Crawford, Culberson, Cummins, Davis, Dixon, Gore, Gronna, Jones, La Follette, Lodge, Martin, Nelson, Newlands, Overman, Owen, Page, Rayner, Percy, Root, Shively, Smith of Michigan, Smith of South Carolina, Stone, Sutherland and Swanson.

Present members who voted for Lorimer are: Bailey, Banward, Bradley, Brandegee, Baggs, Burnham, Clark of Wyoming, Crane, Cullom, Curtis, Dillingham, Dupont, Fletcher, Foster, Gallinger, Gamble, Gehlheim, Heyburn, Johnston, McCumber, Oliver, Paynter, Penrose, Perkins, Richardson, Simmons, Smith of Maryland, Smoot, Stephenson, Thornton, Tillman, Warren, Watson, Wetmore.

Twenty-five senators today had the opportunity of voting on the Lorimer case for the first time.

targets for Lorimer's attack today. He strode toward them and shook his fist and bobbed his shaggy hair defiantly at his accusers, defying them to refute some of his statements.

Senator Lea stared straight at the Illinoisan, while Senator Kern fingered his watch chain nervously and once apparently considered interrupting Lorimer to reply to his charges.

Closing, Lorimer described what he said were other features of the plot against him, the charge that he was corrupt as a congressman and that he had a contract with Lee O'Neil Brown.

Plots, Declares Boss
"These were schemes to put Lorimer in the penitentiary," the Illinoisan declared. "It was necessary to bolster up this case. My opponents hired W. F. Burns, who calls himself 'the great detective'; he put a venerable United States senator in his grave on testimony the president of the United States now believes was untrue. Until Charles White was bought by the Chicago Tribune, Glavis was given $750 to prove Lorimer was corrupting the department."

"He did not have evidence enough so the Tribune went out and bought William J. Burns to commit perjury. They had Glavis indicted to make him hold his tongue."

"If there were no people back home demanding blood, would you turn a senator out on such flimsy evidence as is presented here?"

Lorimer dramatically crossed over to the democratic side of the senate saying he wanted to speak to the minority. He said he had lived for years in a strongly democratic community and told how he became a republican. He denounced as false Kern's statement that he helped get employment for democrats who served him.

The senator reiterated that he was not appealing for votes and did not want support from anyone who actually believed he came there corruptly. Lorimer ridiculed the statement that any "interest" desired his election. He stated that it was foolish to

THE PROSECUTION OBJECTS

Darrow Is Man They Are
After, Says District Attorney, Not Dark Stranger

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—There was no session of the Darrow trial today, adjournment having been taken until Monday with the approval of both sides. Monday the question of whether testimony of Tom Johnson, an attorney, regarding certain statements bearing importantly on the case, will be admitted, will be further argued. Johnson, according to the defense, is ready to testify regarding information given him by Bert H. Franklin concerning a "dark mysterious stranger" who, Franklin says, slipped into his hand $4,000 to be used for the purpose of bribery. The prosecution, which is combatting the introduction of this testimony, points out that Johnson was Franklin's attorney at the time, and that any information given him by Franklin was a privileged statement.

The defense is basing its contention in fact that Franklin already has testified upon a portion of his communication with his attorney and that, therefore, he has waived his right to demand the counsel's silence. The cross examination of Franklin, too, the defense pointed out, revealed that Johnson is willing to testify that Franklin, before his confession to bribery, came to him and requested that he see Assistant District Attorney Ford and offer, if given the aid of the district attorney's office and thirty days' time, to turn up the "dark mysterious man," who had passed the money.

Further, the defense asserts that he went to Ford with the proposition and Ford replied in substance: "Tell Franklin not to come to me with any story like that. Darrow is the man I want—not any 'dark complexioned stranger.'" state that any "interest" would purchase fifty-three votes to insure his election, when they could have purchased seven and elected Hopkins. And Hopkins, he insisted, was a "greater protectionist" than himself.

Darrow appeared to be in better spirits at the close of the week's work than for many days. He left the court room laughing and joking with his counsel.

Appreciation was expressed by Lorimer for the kind things said by him of some senators. It was admitted, he said, that his private life was beyond reproach. He did not want that fact taken into consideration, such a life brought its own reward.

"My family," the senator declared, "will not desert me. They will not consider it a disgrace. My wife and children will form a hollow square about me and protect me from the world."

"Much has been said about Lorimer's resignation," the Illinoisan declared. "I knew nothing more of the facts than any other senator, when the investigation resolution was offered. If I had found out that one man had been bribed, I would have resigned at once. But I know the people who have followed me—night and day for twenty-five years, and I know no man, cast a corrupt vote for Lorimer. Resign in the face of that belief? Resign because defeat stares me in the face? If every man resigned in the face of defeat we would have no flag or country. This is not a chamber for cowards. A man who would resign has no place in this body. I'll not resign. My exit will not be because I am a coward."

"It will be because of the crime committed by the senate of these United States."

When Lorimer concluded it was explained by the presiding officer that the vote would be on the resolution introduced by the minority of the committee as follows:

Resolved, that corrupt methods and practices were employed in the election of William Lorimer to the senate, and his election was therefore invalid."

ONALASKA CHILD DROWNS IN RIVER

August Kolwey Dies Before
Eyes of Helpless Playmates in the Black River

While bathing in Black river at Onalaska at 11 o'clock this morning, August Kolwey, age 9 years, was drowned. The body was recovered at 1:45 this afternoon by several men who started to drag the river as soon as the accident was reported. The body was taken to the Smith Undertaking parlors.

August, who was the youngest son of Mrs. Anna Kolwey, accompanied by William Harnisch and Ernest Ott, two lads of the same age, went, bathing below the Nichols boathouse, opposite Onalaska, this morning. None of the boys were able to swim. While walking about in water neck deep, the Kolwey lad suddenly stepped into a hole, sinking out of sight. He arose a moment later and made a desperate fight to regain the shore but was unable to do so and finally sank within a few feet of his helpless comrades.

William Harnisch, waded out as far as he could without going beneath the water but was unable to reach him. The boys then hurried to the nearest house, where they told of the accident. Men hurried to the scene and after dragging the river for three hours, finally recovered the body in six feet of water. Both lads were too frightened to give a coherent account of the affair this afternoon.

The body will be removed to the home of Mrs. Kolwey, where the funeral services will be held. Complete funeral arrangements have not yet been made but burial will take place at Onalaska.

SHELBY COMPANY A HEAVY LOSER

Destruction Caused by the Storm Results in Heavy
Loss to Shelby Mutual
Fire Insurance Co.

The Shelby Mutual Fire Insurance Company directors held a meeting in the office of the county treasurer this morning to take up several claims filed within the last two weeks. The loss during that time has been heavier than ever before in the history of the company, owing to fires caused by lightning.

The loss in La Crosse county amounted to over $4,000. The largest loss sustained by the company in La Crosse county was the destruction of a barn belonging to the James Barkley estate in the town of Farmington. This loss amounted to $700. The barn was insured for $2,000 but was only partly destroyed.

The heaviest loss was in the town of Genoa, where a barn owned by John W. Kelsor was entirely destroyed with a large amount of grain and hay. The company paid a claim of $1,274 on this loss.

NALLY BEATEN IN TWELVE INNINGS

Joe Nally, who twirled for the Outcasts this spring, has joined the Keokuk team of the Central association, and he pitched a wonderful game in his first appearance with that club, losing a hard slab duel to Kewanee by the count of 1 to 0.

In twelve rounds Kewanee could get but seven hits off the delivery of the former Outcast, and he beat down nine of their number on strikes. He pitched a wonderful game, losing out in the twelfth when a hit, an overthrow to second on a steal which let the runner take third, and another hit scored to only tally of the day. Keokuk made five errors behind Nally whose control was good as he passed only two men. Great credit is given Nally for his pitching, as he twirled steadily throughout the twelve innings.

RUSTLERS

CRAIG, Col., July 13.—After having held the sheriff and fifty cowboys at bay for seven hours, two members of a band of Wyoming outlaws, who have been terrorizing this section of the country for several weeks, are in jail here. They were captured by Sheriff Lefard's posse, after the sheriff had dynamited their cabin refuge and forced them into the open. One man is seriously wounded.

The two men, with a third named Dempsey, have been stealing cattle and horses in this section for some time. Yesterday they were surrounded in an abandoned cabin close to the Wyoming line. When they tried to make a sortie, the sheriff's posse fired a volley and one bandit was seriously wounded. After their capture one man gave the name of Morgan. Feeling runs high against the men and lynching is feared.

CHICAGO, July 13.—There was a waiting feeling in wheat today and little headway was made in any direction. First class crop reports were somewhat discounted by stories of black rust in the northwest and a light movement in new wheat.

Corn was strong at the outset and a general rush to cover by shorts was expected. Instead it developed that the shorts had largely covered yesterday and that there was plenty of corn for sale at quoted prices.

Oats started strong with other grains, but reacted and the close was lower.

Provisions started firm but finished easier. The professional traders concluded that the leading long were jockeying to sell some products and futures and let the market severely alone.

HARD TO GET AT FUND FIGURES

Senate Probe of Elections
Has Job to Discover the Amount of Campaign
Money

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Baffled in its search for details of the enormous campaign fund collections in 1904 and 1908, through the defective memories of both the republican and democratic national managers and their testimony that all records had been destroyed, the special senate investigating committee faces a dilemma.

The committee has decided to continue its hunt for information as to the 1904 campaign before beginning on the presidential race of 1908. George B. Sheldon, who was treasurer of the national republican committee in 1904, will be called shortly. While no definite arrangements have yet been made, it was understood that Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock, tariff manager in 1908, and Norman E. Mack of New York, Bryan's general manager in the same campaign, will be called.

It was understood today that several members of the committee are urging that Roosevelt be called to testify regarding his knowledge of the collection and disbursements during his campaign.

WILD WEST AND FAR EAST IN ONE

The combined forces of Col. Cody's original exhibition the Wild West and Pawnee Bill's story of the Far East, with its primitive peoples on the same line as regards human interest, have been united together, and naturally give a very interesting exhibition.

With four open-air melodramas, an Oriental spectacle, and a host of reckless horsemen on Western bronchos, there will be a genuine atmosphere of the open plains, rugged frontier and desert life in the exhibition to be given in this city by Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Pawnee Bill's Far East. There will be scenes of peace and warfare combined in one of the scenic features, the wagon train, which will show the pastimes of the plainsman and cowboy, and will end in a vigorous Indian attack upon the whites, a repulse and final rout of the red men. The rough riders will display various feats of horsemanship. There will be a quadrille on horseback, bronchos and mustangs in displays of difficult tricks; there will be "broncho busting" and many other forms of accomplished horsemanship by riders gathered from the Far East and once Wild West. In every way the exhibition will uphold its standard as an open-air entertainment.

CLASH IN BRIBE CASE WILL RECALL GOMEZ

DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND DARROW'S LAWYERS IN LIVELY TILT OVER EXAMINATION OF WITNESS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 13.—A lively tilt between District Attorney Frederick and Defense Attorney Horace Appel enlivened today's session of the Darrow bribery trial.

The clash came during cross examination by Assistant District Attorney Ford of Charles Hawley, Ford launched a series of questions "with the evident attempt to confuse the witness," according to Appel, and he was interrupted by Appel, who accused him of trifling and endeavoring to annoy the witness and the jury. Fredericks leaped to his feet and advancing toward Appel, cried: "You apparently think the state is represented in this case by babes and sucklings. The place for such remarks is outside the court room, where our hands are not tied by respect for this court."

"I have a right to criticize the prosecution's representatives whenever and whenever I please," shouted Appel.

He was about to reply further when the court interrupted with the order that the verbal battle must cease. The cross examination of Hawley occupied almost the entire morning. He reviewed his testimony of yesterday, when he told of a telephone conversation with Darrow that caused Darrow to start to the socialist headquarters, on the morning of Bert Franklin's arrest.

NO TROUBLE FEARED OVER BRITISH KICK

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Purely a legislative matter, which has not yet reached the importance of a diplomatic crisis, was the way the state department today summed up the situation created by England's protest against the Panama canal bill.

England's note, fully explaining her objections to the provisions governing the big ditch, is expected next week.

The principal development today was the possibility that Great Britain's protest against the legislation may cause a postponement of its consideration until next session.

TO MAKE CHILEAN GUNS.

Bull Moose Grateful to One T. Roosevelt

"Oh, I was little known to fame," The shaggy Bull Moose said, "And some had never heard my name Before this fellow Ted; With pity in his breast for me Did lead me forth one day From dark and chill obscurity To where Fame's sunbeams play. One word from great T. R. Did spread my name afar."

"Before T. R. did bring me forth That happy day in June, No one had ever deemed me worth News-item or cartoon. But now cartoonists keen do off Me draw, and journals tell How I, Bull Moose, am perched aloft On Fame's high pinnacle. How quickly rose my star With one word from T. R."

"And so I say, let come what may, I'll ne'er forget the man Who made my name a household word. Within a day's short span, The Ted should travel up Sait Creek And men forget his name. E'en then should I remember him, And how he brought me fame. Still would I shout afar, 'Hoaray for old T. R.!' H. A. M'NITT."

FOLLOWS WIFE TO SUICIDE'S GRAVE

Wealthy Stock Broker
Whose Spouse Killed
Self Two Weeks Ago,
Dies in Same Way

NEW YORK, July 13.—Alvah J. Gibbs is dead by his own act in his palatial home in Yonkers. He was found asphyxiated in the bathroom, sitting on a chair, a large picture of his wife in his hands, and across his face a smile of perfect peace. Tomorrow he will be buried in a grave alongside of that in which rests the body of the wife he had loved so devotedly that he could not live after she had gone. Two weeks ago she killed herself in the same room. She had been a chronic invalid for two years and the doctors had told her that there was no hope of recovery.

Gibbs was a retired stock broker. For years he had worked night and day to acquire a competency that he and the woman he idolized might end their days in luxury. When he retired three years ago it seemed he had attained his desire. But his wife's illness and their money could not purchase relief for her. Gibbs found her dead when he came home two weeks ago. He tried then to kill himself, but was prevented by friends. He has since been despondent so when the opportunity came last night he hastened to rejoin the wife of his youth.

REFUSE TAGGART RELEASE

INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—Thomas Taggart is still the member of the democratic national committee from Indiana. The democratic state committee refused to accept his nomination and he was notified of the action at French Lick, Ind., over the long distance telephone by State Chairman Bernard Korbly. "Well, I guess all that I can do is to go and work," was Taggart's reply when he received the news.

WAS SOMETHING LIKE A RUN

Munchausen Tells About a Bit of Sprinting He Witnessed in Scotland.

"Talkin' about runnin'," remarked Hon. Ananias Munchausen, "about the finest bit of sprintin' I ever saw was up in Scotland the shootin' season before last. I'd been out all day deer shootin', and had had most awful luck when I spied a whoppin' great buck about eighteen hundred yards away. Takin' a careful sight, I let fly. But, bless your soul, the instant my bullet touched him, and before it had time to penetrate his hide, that beast was off like a flash!

"I never saw two such evenly matched things as that deer and my bullet. For over half a mile they sped on together, neither gainin' on the other, the bullet just managin' to keep in touch with the deer's skin. At the end of a mile, however, the pace began to tell on the deer, and he faltered just for a moment. 'Twas fatal. The bullet sped on, and the poor beast keeled over. He deserved his freedom if ever an animal did. He'd have got it, too, if he could have stuck out for another twenty yards, for that's about as far as my rifle carries."

On Boston Common.

Comparatively few people know that there was once a "spinning school" on Boston Common. Winsor's "Memorial History of Boston" records that upon the arrival in Boston of some Irish spinners and weavers a spinning craze took possession of the town, "and the women, young and old, high and low, rich and poor, flocked into the spinning school, which for want of better quarters, was set up in the Common, in the open air. Here the whirr of their wheels was heard from morning to night." Thirty-five years later the Society for Encouraging Industry and Employing the Poor again used the Common as a spinning school, about 300 young women appearing there.

Man's Own Horn.

"I should think some of these speechmakers would get tired of hearing themselves," said the proprietor of the village store. "Human nature's the same in politics as 'tis anywhere else," replied old Joe Struthers. "A man don't mind listenin' to the worst noise a cornet can make, provided he's the feller that's doin' the practicin'."

Whole Hog or None.

"Whole hog or none" refers to the alleged custom of Mahomet to allow his followers to eat all except one portion of a pig, which portion, however, was not specified. The result therefore was that if a Mahometan did not wholly avoid the use of pork he might as well run the risk of consuming the whole hog as to eat any portion thereof.

Forests of Scotland.

Scotland contains a considerable number of well preserved and imposing forests, cared for and protected for centuries. One of these forests contains more than 5,000 acres, with many trees more than three feet in diameter.

Great Motto.

"That 'E pluribus unum' is a great motto," said Dr. Dustin Stax. "I think I'll apply it to the big business I built up in Wall street." "I don't see how you can do so," "Why, they told me it means 'won out of many.'"

DYSPEPSIA Catarrh of the Stomach

Are you satisfied with your stomach? Have you experimented all you care to? Would you really like Relief?

It is safe to say that, in an assemblage of one hundred people, seventy-five per cent of them have some stomach trouble. Of course, the individual is to blame, generally speaking. The stomach is one of the most abused organs in the human body, not because the average individual desires to injure himself, but because, in ignorance of the laws of health, he commits errors in diet that promote acidity and inflammation of the stomach.

The common and easily recognized symptoms of stomach trouble are loss of appetite, food is distasteful, later vomiting and pain, pressure on the surface over the region of the stomach is unbearable on account of the extreme soreness resulting from the inflammation. There is apt to be a bad taste in the mouth, with dryness of tongue and more or less fever. In some cases dizziness and headache are noted, and there is a burning thirst not easily satisfied by drinking cold water. It is only a step from these described conditions to the chronic stages, when the fever grows less but the mucus accumulates rapidly and the digestive fluid is diminished so that the food lies for hours in the stomach, undigested, and decomposes into gas and certain other irritating and poisonous bodies.

Constipation generally follows, with swelling of the stomach and abdomen, and the victim becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable. At times there are attacks of pain, nausea or sickness at the stomach. The attacks may occur frequently or weeks may elapse between them. The constipation may be interrupted by spells of looseness of the bowels and the discharge of gas. Oftentimes when the accumulation of gas is pronounced, the pressure is so great as to cause pains in the heart and the victim immediately fears some organic heart trouble. As a climax to the difficulty that originates in the digestive organs, the victim is poorly nourished, loses flesh, grows weak and pallid, becomes listless, indifferent and low-spirited; in short, he becomes a "chronic old dyspeptic" as the common saying goes.

If you have pain in the stomach, loss of appetite, what you think is dyspepsia or indigestion, bad taste in the mouth or foul breath, sick headache, catarrh, gas, gnawing sensation, nervousness, heartburn, bloated feeling, then your stomach trouble has become a chronic fact and the need for expert assistance becomes a necessity. That is where a stomach specialist becomes a public benefactor. That is why people come to Dr. Turbin and give their cases with confidence in his hands.

SHALL WE REDUCE OUR CAVALRY

A Measure in Which Military Men Find Great Danger—
Civil War Photographs Show Federal Cavalry
Learning Lessons That Took Three Years to Apply—
The Eyes and Ears of the Infantry.

Congress has been asked to reduce the cavalry. In this measure military men find grave danger to the efficiency of our army. They point out that horse soldiers take more time to train than foot—two or three years, instead of a few months.

The newly found photographs of the Civil War show more graphically than words can tell how many millions of dollars, how many thousands of lives, the lack of an adequate, trained cavalry force cost the North in the first years of that gigantic struggle. They show the Federal horsemen learning lessons that it took them all of three years to apply.

In the meanwhile, the bold cavalry raids of Stuart and Mosby had cost the Union something like $10,000,000.00.

In the later years of the war, the cavalry not only became the eyes and ears of the army, but the branch of the service upon which it chiefly depended for food. The cavalry guarded the provision trains, enabling them to march faster and overtake the moving infantry columns, and protecting them from the destructive raids which often had caused the infantry, discomfited by lack of food, and without a bullet fired to scurry back to their base of supplies. It was Van Dorn's capture at Holly Springs that caused Grant's first failure against Vicksburg.

A photograph taken on May 30, 1864, shows another important function of the cavalry, the "screening" of the army's movements. In this photograph the troopers are seen guarding the evacuation of Port Royal on the Rappahannock. After the reverse to the Union arms at Spotsylvania, Grant ordered the change of base from the Rappahannock to McClellan's former starting place, White House on the Pamunkey.

Sheridan's efficient use of the cavalry made this an easy matter. Torbert's division encountered Gordon's brigade of Confederate cavalry at Hanover town and drove it in the direction of Hanover Court House. Gregg's division moved up to this line; Russell's division of infantry encamped near the river crossing in support, and behind the mask thus formed the Army of the Potomac crossed the Pamunkey unimpeded. Gregg was then ordered to reconnoiter towards Mechanicsville, and after a severe fight at the assistance of Custer's brigade in driving Hampton's and Fitzhugh Lee's cavalry divisions and Butler's brigade from the field.

Although the battle took place immediately in front of the Federal infantry, General Meade declined to put the latter into action, and the battle was won by the cavalry alone.

The war-time photograph of "Phil" Sheridan shows the man who led the Federal cavalry to triumph—but only after three years of bitter preparation.

To cripple the present cavalry nucleus of the United States army might have effects that the most peaceful and economical citizen would regret.

FROCK DEVELOPED
IN COTTON VOILE

Here is a charming frock developed in white cotton voile, combined with a dainty design of allover embroidery. The skirt is laid in small pressed plaits held flat by the curved sections of embroidery. These are edged with narrow Valenciennes lace and decorated with crocheted buttons. The bodice and sleeves are also plaited. The embroidery bands are outlined with heavy white Venise lace. The girdle and choux are of black mousseline.

Domestic Hints

(From The Scotch-American)

A lump of sugar dropped into a teapot not constantly in use will prevent any mustiness.

Rugs should not be shaken, but instead hang them on a clothes line and beat them with a cane beater kept for that purpose.

To prevent cheese getting mouldy wrap it in a cloth that has been dipped in vinegar and wrung as dry as possible. Keep in a cool place.

In proportion to size the human heart is the most powerful pumping machine ever made. It throws into the arteries seven and three-quarter tons of blood daily.

It is an old custom to break a cake over the head of a newly made Scottish bride on entering her house; but we cannot say if keys were handed to her by aid of tongs or shovel.

For English fritters cut a sponge-cake into finger-lengths and soak them in cream. When thoroughly done dip each into beaten egg and fry a nice golden colour. Drain and screen with any kind of preserve.

Never hunt for a leak in a gas-pipe with a lighted match. If you would avoid explosions. Instead, paint the pipe with thick soap-suds, and where there is an escape of gas it will blow up soap bubbles at the mouth of the leak.

Never hang the cage in a draft or a stiff breeze, as canaries are very susceptible to cold. Neither should it remain uncovered in a lighted room at night, as the birds' song is liable to become impaired, because of its nervous temperament.

Some one may have a ping cotton or linen dress in good condition, but badly faded. If so put a piece of Turkey-red cheese-cloth in water and boil till the colour is bright. It will dry a bit lighter than when wet and will leave an even colour all over.

The seed in the four kinds of soil.

Mark iv:1-20.

Golden Text—Receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls. Jas. 1:21.

(1.) Verse 1—What was the particular charm in Jesus which attracted to him such great crowds?

(2.) Is preaching from a boat just as holy and acceptable to God as from a pulpit in a cathedral or a church?

(3.) Verse 2—Why did Jesus teach in parables and what are the advantages or disadvantages of that method of teaching?

(4.) Verse 3—In what respect is the teaching of religion like the sowing of seed?

(5.) Verse 4—How would you regard a gardener who deliberately sowed seed on the highway?

(6.) Should a Christian sow the seed of the gospel in those hearts that are not prepared to receive it?

(7.) Verses 5-6—What class of people are those who resemble the stony ground?

(8.) When emotional or shallow minded people hear the gospel and are moved by it are they or not as likely to develop into strong Christians as those under like influences who are not so easily moved and think more deeply? Give your reasons.

(9.) Verse 7—What effect does preaching the gospel have upon those who will not give up their sins?

(10.) If a person is ever so much influenced by the gospel, but still holds on to some sin or sins, how much Christian fruit is he likely to bear?

(11.)—

(12.) How do you account for the different degrees of fruit bearing from those who answer to the "good ground" in this parable?

(13.) Verse 9—Is it a fault or a misfortune, and why, to have dull or no spiritual hearing?

(14.) Verses 10-12—Why did Jesus speak in parables that he knew some would not understand or would misunderstand?

(15.) What is the only way by which we may understand the teaching of Jesus?

(16.) Verse 14—What is "the word" which all Christians must sow?

(17.) Verse 15—What class of persons are "wayside" hearers?

(18.) Verses 16-17—Do these stony ground "hearers, who receive the word with gladness" and afterward fall away actually get converted? Give your reasons.

(19.) Verse 20—What reward will they who are "good ground" hearers get?

Lesson for Sunday, July 21, 1912. The Growth of the Kingdom. Mark iv:26-32; Matt. xiii:33.

More Than She Could Endure

A woman in one of the wards in the Rhode Island hospital was informed she had appendicitis and would have to be operated on at once. Much frightened, she reluctantly consented and was conveyed to the operating room. One of the doctors hadmenaced to administer the ether and her eyes were closing languidly, when he discovered the rubber cap, and quire if she had false teeth. He quickly removed the rubber cap, and she shaking her slightly he said: "Have you anything loose in your mouth?" Then, as he made a move to put his hand in her mouth, she opened her eyes wildly and exclaimed: "Nothing but my tongue, doctor, and for God's sake don't cut that out, too!"

No Job for Humans

Colonel Hal Corbett, a Kentucky orator, was up in the mountains of his native state last summer looking into the titles to certain coal lands. The task led him far into the interior, remote from the railroad, where he stayed a week as a boarder at a mountain cabin. For three days he stood for half-melted butter and lukewarm drinking water, and then he suggested to his hostess that she buy some ice. "Whar kin I git any ice this time of the year?" she demanded. "You could send down to Middleboro for it," he said. "How does Middleboro folks git ice in the summer?" she asked. "They make it," he said. "Mister," she said, "the Lord himself couldn't make ice in the middle of August."

The Small Boy Again

An old Scottish farmer being elected a member of the local school board visited the school and tested the intelligence of the class by his questions. His first inquiry was: "Now, boys, can any one of you tell me what naething is?" After a moment's silence a small boy in a back seat arose and replied: "It's what ye g'ied me t'other day for haudin' yer horae."

His Loquacity
Was Inherited

A school teacher, who had often punished a little fellow for talking during lessons, as a last resort decided to inform his father of his son's falling. So below the conduct mark on his next report were these words: "Tommy talks a great deal." In due time the report was returned with the father's signature, and under it was written: "You ought to hear his mother!"

CHURCH NEWS

Find New Gold Fields.

Gold, silver and other treasures are in the Philippine Islands in value not heretofore suspected, and they have not touched to any extent worth speaking about. The Rev. J. L. McLaughlin, the Manila agent of the American Bible Society, has just reached home after an absence in the islands of twelve years, during which he has had exceptional opportunities to study conditions. Besides the treasures of gold, Mr. McLaughlin reports new resources in the way of markets. The wants of the Filipinos are increasing. Industrial schools have been established and children are attending them. The people, barefooted for centuries, are now wearing shoes and stockings. They are also wearing shirts, collars and neckties. Manufacturing is starting up to supply these things.

Methodists Face
Serious Situation.

The secretaries of the Methodist Foreign Board, in office a month, issue a formal statement to American Methodism, stating what they find when looking over details of their new jobs, what they plan to do, and what they ask Methodists to do. With Methodists leading in the Laymen's Missionary Movement, the secretaries find receipts of the board to have fallen off in 1911 when compared with 1910, and a debt of $172,000, one of the largest debts any mission board ever run up.

Besides, the regular debt, the new secretaries say they find $42,000 have been authorized by the last General Convention with nothing in sight to pay it, $85,000 needed before November 1, for work heretofore supported by special gifts, $50,000 advanced to Africa Jubilee and Korea Centennial funds had not yet repaid, and a decrease in gifts from last spring's conferences amounting to $39,000. The secretaries say in their statement that they make no apology for putting things before American Methodism as they find them.

The secretaries report the naming of a committee on relief and reinforcement, with Bishop Lewis at its head.

Gospel By Advertisement.

American and British business enterprise is, at this moment, pioneering China, and especially along the great water highways of the interior, with advertisements of soaps, guns, flour and almost every sort of merchandise that it is assumed citizens of a new republic will buy. It is reported that such wholesale placarding of a nation was never witnessed before. No landscape, no religion, no historic wall, hardly the graves of ancestors, are held sacred. The China Inland Mission, with six to eight hundred missionaries in China's interior, sent out chiefly by English effort, but in part by that of the United States and Canada, refuses to be outdone by business. It is preparing and placing Gospel placards that are artistically the equal of any. Along with placards of American cigarettes, American patent medicines, and American and English ales, interior China is seeing put up Bible passages and promises.

lately affected by the Men and Religion Forward Campaign in an effort toward aggressive and common Christian effort. It states that this campaign put upon it a new and large burden of harvesting results. To this end it is formulating plans, and appealing to the churches for larger support to put them into operation. The council will hold its quadrennial meeting at Chicago next December, its second, and by that time it hopes to be able to report much of the work left by the Men and Religion Campaign well in hand.

MAY HAVE VACATION
PARIS, July 13.—The fourteenth of July this year in France may mark another revolution, that of the vacation period of school children. At present children attend school throughout the summer months, taking their holidays in the fall. The government is considering turning the schools out on July 14, the great national holiday, the fall session to begin around October 1.

To Look and Feel
Bright in Hot Weather

(From the Woman Beautiful)
This is the season when she who would have a rose-leaf complexion, lily-white neck and hands, should turn her thoughts to mercialized wax, the firm friend of the summer-girl. Nothing so effectually overcomes the scorching effects of sun, wind, dust and dirt. The wax literally absorbs the scorched, discolored, withered or coarsened cuticle, bring forth a brand new skin; clear, soft and girlishly beautiful. It also undoes the pores, removing blackheads and increasing the skin's breathing capacity. An ounce of mercialized wax, obtainable at any drug store, applied right like cold cream, and washed off mornings, will gradually improve the worst complexion.

When depressed by the heat and you want to freshen up for the evening by dissolving an ounce of powder, bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered sorbolite in a half pint witch hazel. You'll find this more refreshing than an hour's rest. It also smooths out fine lines, affecting even the deeper wrinkles.

FAN-ATICAL FANCIES

Watson won another shutout game yesterday when Oshkosh whitewashed the Green Bay club 3 to 0. Watson allowing but eight hits. The former Outcast twirler has been doing some great work on the slab for Joe Kilian's team this year.

Helgeson made his appearance as a Wausau pitcher yesterday, hurling part of the game against Appleton and being relieved by Delave. Appleton won the game, which was a heavy hitting affair, 9 to 8. Billy Wais did the backstopping for Wausau and he slammed out two hits in three times up. Russ Bailey, former leader of the Eau Claire team, is playing center field for Wausau.

Sylvester, the former star athlete of the Appleton high school and the man who put up a star game when the La Crosse and Appleton basketball teams played at Madison two years ago, is now the star first baseman of the Appleton club of the W-I. league. He is hitting the ball hard in addition to playing a wonderful game around the initial sack.

Evidently Eddie Collins had a good hunch when he said that the Red Sox and Athletics would fight it out for the American league pennant. At present Boston is leading the league by a good margin and they are playing a whirlwind game. It looks as if the world's champs have their work cut out for them in catching up to the Red Sox.

Reports from New York say that McGraw is worried in spite of the fact that the Giants are in first place and have a margin of some twelve games. His cause for worry is that he has practically a one man pitching staff in Rube Marquardt.

Mathewson is hurling good ball, but he is not as brilliant as in former years, while Ames, Wittise and Crandall are not to be depended upon. It is said that McGraw is willing to pay a fancy price for a reliable twirler, as many consider the Pittsburgh and Chicago slab artists superior to the New York pitchers.

Ed Kocetich continues to hit the ball with great regularity, the last average showing that the idol of the St. Louis fans is batting at a .356 clip. The former local player has been hitting around the .350 mark all season and his batting has been very consistent. In this department he is leading all the St. Louis players.

As soon as a championship team begins to slip, the fans invariably get busy with the hammer. Connie Mack's Athletics, after a poor start, have been playing good ball lately, but they have not been playing up to the standard of the Red Sox, and now many rumors regarding the cause of the champs' slump are abroad. Some say that the members of the infield are not on speaking terms and so will not play their best, but we notice that the champions are still up within striking distance of the lead.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

The Cubs gained half a game on the Giants by winning while McGraw's men watched the rain.

Ty Cobb gained a bit on Joe Jackson in their slugging race, hitting twice in five times, while Joe failed in four trips.

Joe Wood held the hard hitting Tigers to five hits and a shutout. He had to blank them to win, however, for the Red Sox got only one run from their seven safeties off Willett.

The Athletics passed the White Sox and went into third place by taking both halves of a double header. Mack's men seem to be climbing steadily.

Shanks of Washington got three of his team's six hits off Galer. Jim Vaughn won from the Naps, pitching nice ball.

Larry Cheney came right back at the Braves after getting credit for a win over the Giants the day before, and let Kling's kids down with six hits.

ROOSEVELT LAUGHS AT LORIMER CHARGE

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 13.—Senator Lorimer's allegations that he had consented to the attempted bribery of delegates to the recent Chicago republican convention seemed to afford Colonel Roosevelt much amusement. When his attention was called to the Lorimer speech of yesterday in which the Illinois senator gave the names of the Taft delegates, who, he said, were offered money to desert Taft, Roosevelt asked: "Who presented those affidavits?"

"Senator Lorimer of Illinois," he was told.

Roosevelt threw back his head and laughed heartily. Then he said: "Well, I don't think I care to make any comment on what Lorimer of Illinois has to say now. To know who was the introducer of such affidavits ought to be enough for the average man."

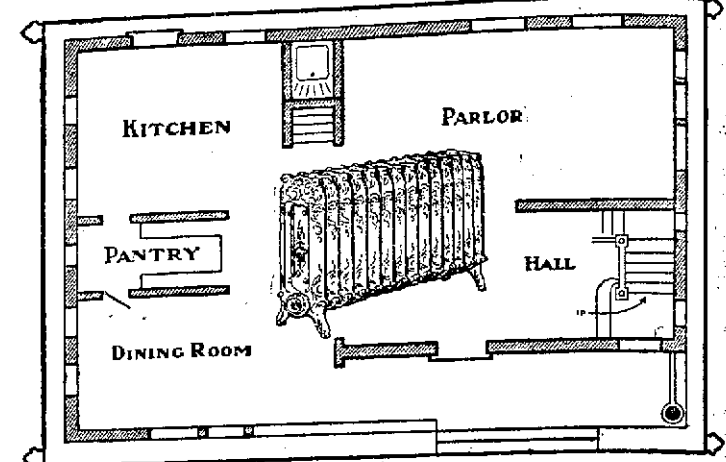

ATHLETES TO PLAY PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

This is the second time this season that these teams have met, and both nines have been strengthened for this game. Fuchsel will pitch for the Athletics and he will be opposed by Kellerman, spitball twirler of the Prairie du Chien team.
